Many of the old graves are marked only by native stones; no names. The writer visited this cemetery and church more than once.

Issue:

A. Jonathan, 1769-1861;
B. Nathan, 1774-1859;
C. Sarah, dates unknown;
D. Betsy, dates unknown.

Tradition says that the older of the two sons, Jonathan, was kidnapped by Indians and ransomed, which fact may have influenced Samuel to leave Pennsylvania, but it is believed the chief reason was his opposition to military service, being of Quaker (or Mennonite) faith. He is said to have brought the first wagon to Sullivan Co., Tenn., loaded with merchandise, some of which he traded for land. He then returned to Penna. and brought his family to what is now Kingsport probably about the year 1776.

RHEA

The Rhea family descends from the Campbells of Scotland. The Campbell family was of Norman and Celtic descent, and "of large possessions, and being allied to the royal family did much to secure the people of that country from relapsing into the barbarious independence of their ancestors". (Scott's History of Scotland).

From the time of Archibald Campbell, Fourth Earl of Argyll, who embraced protestanism, the House of Argyll was the bulwark of protestantism in Scotland.

Archibald Campbell, Ninth Earl of Argyll, in taking the test oath, under Charles the Second, added the phrase, "so far as consistent with the protestant faith," for this he was tried for treason and condemned to be executed. The sentence was suspended by royal orders.

On the accession of James the Second, a Roman Catholic, Argyll took a leading part in fomenting the rebellion in favor of the protestant, Duke of Monmouth. When Monmouth sailed to England the Duke endeavored to raise an army but the Scotch were not ripe for rebellion and he succeeded in levying only a small body of men, one of whom was his cousin, Matthew Campbell.

After two or three skirmishes most of these followers deserted the standard of the Earl of Argyll, but he, and the faithful few remaining, undertook to make their way into England to join the Duke of Monmouth, but were surrounded and taken prisoners. Argyll was executed, in June 1865, without trial, under the old sentence. His cousin, Matthew Campbell, was tried and condemned to life imprisonment, and was confined on the Isle of Man. From hence he escaped, fled into Ireland, and assumed the name of Reah, (variously spelled Reagh, Reahgh, Rea, Ray and finally established into Rhea) and by this act became the founder of the family of Rhea, in Ireland. (Some of the descendants in Nova Scotia use the spelling Reah).

After locating in Ireland, true to his Presbyterian blood, he took a prominent part in the siege of Londonderry.

John Rhea, in his memoirs of the Rhea family, says it is not known whether the wife of Matthew Campbell Rhea was married to him in Scotland, before his imprisonment, or whether he married a wife in Ireland, but he had three sons. The names of two are unknown, but a third, Matthew Rhea II, married a wife, whose name is unknown, and had four sons:

I Samuel Rhea,
II William Rhea,
III Isaac Rhea,
IV MATTHEW RHEA III,

By his second wife, Elizabeth McLain, he had five children:

V Abraham Rhea, died without issue,
VI James Rhea, died without issue,
VII Margery Rhea,
VIII Agnes Rhea,
IX JOSEPH RHEA.

I SAMUEL RHEA

I Samuel Rhea, born in Ireland, came early to America and settled at Port Pin, near New Castle, Delaware. Wife's name unknown. They had one son, name unknown, who married a wife, name unknown, and had a son and daughter. This son was a surgeon on one of the largest armed ships of the American Navy during the Revolutionary War. This ship sailed on a cruise and was no more heard of. The daughter married twice: First ——— O'Hara; Second, ——— Frazier. They lived near New Castle, Delaware. She had children by her second husband.

II WILLIAM RHEA

II William Rhea, born in Ireland, came early to America and settled in Chester County, Pennsylvania. He married a wife, name unknown, and had three children: (1) James Rhea; (2) Mary Rhea, who married John Brown and lived near Wilmington, Delaware; (3) Elizabeth Rhea, who married James McCorkle, and lived in Washington, D. C. They had several daughters and two sons: (a) James McCorkle; (b) William McCorkle, who lived in Pennsylvania and was editor of a newspaper.

III ISAAC RHEA

III Isaac Rhea came early to America and lived in Pennsylvania. He married a wife named ——— Peoples and had a daughter, name unknown.

IV MATTHEW RHEA III

IV Matthew Rhea III lived and died in Kinnically, near St. Johnston, Ireland. He had a son named William Rhea II, who married Elizabeth Lockhart. William Rhea was born and married in Ireland. After the birth of his children he moved, with his family to America (1785) and located in Washington County, Virginia, where he lived until his death. He had children: (1) Matthew Rhea IV, who married Margaret Breden, (sister of Frances, Elizabeth and Nancy Breden, who married, respectively, Joseph, William and Samuel Rhea) and had children: (a) Elizabeth Rhea; (b) William Rhea; (c) Margaret Rhea; (d) Robert Bruce Rhea (1814-1888) (married twice: First, Sarah Ann White, no issue; Second, Sarah Sells. Children: Margaret Rebecca Rhea, (1876-) who married Robert Earheart Rhea (son of Joseph Rhea and Elizabeth Ann (Earheart) Rhea). Children under Robert Earheart Rhea: John Matthew Rhea, (1878-) who married Elizabeth Payne Gresham, and had children: Eleanor Elizabeth and John Matthew Rhea II; William Rankin Rhea, (1880-) who married Mary Zeta Slack, and had children: Robert Bruce and Julia Holston); (e) Sallie Rhea; (f) Jane Rhea, (married Alexander Doggett, and had children: Catherine, James, and William); (2) Jennie Rhea; (3) Joseph Rhea; (4) William Rhea; (5) Sarah Rhea; (6) Elizabeth Rhea; (7) ROBERT RHEA, (1784-1841) (was born in Ireland and came to America with his father (1785) and located in Washington County, Virginia. Later he moved to Sullivan County, Tennessee. where he lived until his death). He married twice: First, Elizabeth Rhea (daughter of Rev. Joseph Rhea and Elizabeth (McIlwaine) Rhea); Second, Jane Scott (daughter of John Scott, a colonel in the Revolutionary War). By his first wife he had four children, given in full under Elizabeth Rhea. By the second wife he had children: (a) Mary Rhea, (1827-1882) who married James J. Snapp, and had children: Robert L. Snapp; Mary J. Snapp; James B. Snapp; Sarah E. Snapp; Margaret V.

heart

Snapp, (1857). (who married Robert Snapp, and had children: Mary E. Snapp, who married Charles R. Bright, and had children: Virgnia and William; Myrtle Snapp; James Snapp; Mattie L. Snapp, who married Joseph Booher, and had children: Belle and Everett; Margarett Snapp; Landon Snapp); Loueja Snapp; Laura Snapp; William Snapp; (b) Jane Rhea, who married ——— Smith; (c) Margaret Rhea, who married Audley Anderson (son of Edward B. Anderson and Eleanor (Rhea) Anderson). Children under Edward B. Anderson.

Note: William F. Rhea, member of congress from 9th Virginia District, is a grandson of William Rhea and Elizabeth (Lockhart) Rhea.

VII MARGERY RHEA

VII Margery Rhea married ——— McCrabb, lived and died in Ireland. Names of children unknown excepting one son, John McCrabb, who married his cousin, Elizabeth Latta, and came to America (1783) and located in Wilmington, Delaware. After the birth of his children he moved to the Holston Country, Tennessee, and located on a farm where he and his wife lived until their death. William, his eldest son (names of other children unknown) lived on the paternal farm.

VIII AGNES RHEA

VIII Agnes Rhea married William Latta, of Costitan, near St. Johnston, Ireland. She had childrn, names unknown excepting Elizabeth Latta and Joseph Latta. Joseph Latta came to America, married and lived near Brandywine, Pennsylvania.

IX JOSEPH RHEA

IX Joseph Rhea, (1715-1777), son of Matthew Rhea II and his second wife, Elizabeth (McClain) Rhea, was born in Parish Laughlin, Ireland, died in Piney Creek, Maryland. He married (1752) Elizabeth McIlwaine (1732-1793) (daughter of John McIlwaine and Margaret (Scott) McIlwaine, of Tifannan, near Londonderry, Ireland. A will executed in 1773 by her father, John McIlwaine, shows tha he possessed a large property in money, lands and leases). They had children:

I JOHN RHEA,
II MATTHEW RHEA IV,
III MARGARET RHEA,

IV WILLIAM RHEA,
V JOSEPH RHEA,
VI ELIZABETH RHEA,
VII SAMUEL RHEA,
VIII JAMES RHEA.

Joseph Rhea graduated at the University of Glasgow, Scotland, with honor, and distinction, in 1742; was a minister of the Presbyterian Church and had charge of a church at Fahan, Ireland, at the time he resigned to go to America.

Rev. Joseph Rhea with his wife and children, John, Matthew, Margaret, William, Joseph, Elizabeth, (Samuel and James were born later in America), sailed from Ireland and landed in America, at Philadelphia, in 1769.

He commenced preaching in Piney Creek, Maryland, in 1772. In 1775 he went to the Holston Country, Tennessee, to locate land, and there purchased about two thousand acres of land. In 1776 he joined as Chaplain, the troops under Col. Christian, and in this capacity campaigned into Virginia and Tennessee.

There is much in Draper's Mss. (Historical Society, Madison, Wisconsin), about Christian's Cherokee Company.

The following is cited from an orderly book, once the perty of Capt. Joseph Martin:

property

"Six Mile Camp, Oct 5, 1776.

"Parole William Burge.

General Orders:

"Mr. Ray will preach on the Augusta Line at one o'clock, and Mr. Cummins on the Fincastle Line. All others who choose to attend may do it.

"The church will be at the time to give warning, the men to attend with their arms by companies, and to observe as much decency and regularity as the ground will admit of."

In their capaciy as chaplains, at this time, Rev. Rhea and Rev. Cummins were the first ministers to preach in the territory that is now Tennessee.

Rev. Joseph Rhea died in Piney Creek, Maryland, in 1777.

In the following year, 1778, his family moved, by wagons, to the land in Sullivan County, Tennessee, which h ad purchased and which is still in possession of his d endants.

Rev. Joseph Rhea became the founder of a large family which resides, principally, in Tennessee and Virginia. His descendants are more numerous than those of the other emigres of the Rhea family.

I JOHN RHEA

I John Rhea, first child of Rev. Joseph Rhea and Elizabeth (McIlwaine) Rhea, was born in 1753 in Ireland, and died in 1839 in Sullivan County, Tennessee. He graduated at Princeton in 1789. He and his father were noted as Latin and Greek scholars, and while John was in Gen. Washington's army they corresponded in Latin. A letter from the father, dated April 19, 1777, ends thus: "Benignus esto illi qui hostili tibi."

John Rhea assisted in the organization of the state of Tennessee, and the writing of its constitution, and was chosen the first representative from Sullivan County to the legislature. When Tennessee was divided into three Congressional Districts John Rhea, in 1803, was elected to Congress from the First District, where he served with distinction. In 1815 he accepted an appointment from the President, James Madison, as a commissioner to treat with the Choctaw Indians, but in 1817 was returned to Congress where he continued to serve until 1823 when he retired to private life.

He was a Jeffersonian democrat and a friend of Andrew Jackson.

Rhea County, Rheatown and Rhea Springs, Tennessee, were named in his honor.

He died, unmarried, and left a very large estate in lands, much of which had been Government grants for special services rendered. (Ramsey's History of Tennessee, Porter's History, Historic Sullivan).

II MATTHEW RHEA IV

II Matthew Rhea IV (1755-1816), (son of Rev. Joseph Rhea and Elizabeth (McIlwaine) Rhea) married (1778) Jane Preston (a sister of Robert Preston who married III Margaret Rhea). They had children:

1 Joseph Mathew Rhea,
2 Robert Preston Rhea,
3 Margaret Rhea,
4 Matthew Rhea V.

1 Joseph Matthew Rhea (1789-1860), married (1806) Catherine Myers (daughter of Charles Myers and Annie

(Case) Myers). According to tradition they had eleven children, names of six known: (1) Emma Rhea; (2) Edmund Rhea; (3) Jane Rhea; (4) Eleanor Rhea; (5) Margaret Rhea; (6) Walter Preston Rhea (1831-1897), who married Sarah Jane Pile. They moved from Tennessee to Arkansas, in 1866. They had children: (a) Laura Ella Rhea (1856-), (married R. A. Robbins. Children: Maude Ethel, Lillian, Bernice Preston, Sarah, Neill Rhea, Pauline Elizabeth and Alfred Gerald); (b) David Charles Rhea (1858-), (married M. Anderson, and had children: George Rhea and Lucy; (7) Hal Henry Rhea: (8) Fannie McIlwaine Rhea.

7 Theodora Bland Rhea (1833-1868) married (1856) Frances Elizabeth Rhea (daughter of Robert P. Rhea and Sarah G. (Preston) Rhea, and had children: (1) Elizabeth Dysart Rhea (1857-), who married Alexander Anderson (son of Audley Anderson and Cornelia (Alexander) Anderson), and had one child: Audley Rhea Anderson II; (2) Robert Preston Rhea (1859-), who married Nannie Bell Gillespie, and had children: Joseph Earhart Rhea (1882-), who married Jeannette McNabb; Frank Bland Rhea (1884-), who married Nell Hill, and had one child, Sara Carolyn; Lillian Burts (1889-); Robert Preston Rhea II (1894-); (3) James Theoderic Rhea (1860-), who married Caroline Lea Riggs and had children: Clarence Ward (1890-), William Edwin (1894-), and James Theoderic Rhea II (1902-); (4) Sarah Gilleland Rhea (1862-), who married Frank Milton Adams, and had children: Frank Milton Adams II, (1888), who married Jessie Lee French; Leta Rhea Adams (1894-); Yancey Dailey Adams (1899-); (5) Fannie Rhea (1863-1864).

As a family the Rheas have followed principally the pursuits of ministers, lawyerr, doctors, farmers and merchants. There were several of the family who were stockholders and assisted in organizing the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad (now the Southern).

Seldon Nelson, in his series of articles on the Rhea family says: "The descendants (of Rev Joseph Rhea) have occupied nearly every position in life . . . . The ministry seems to have been the chief calling in the professional line, but there have been some merchant princes among them . . . . . There have been very few politicians among the descendants, and very few who have held office"

The family has always responded to the country's call time of war. There were three who served in the Revolutionary War: Rev. Joseph Rhea as Chaplain, and his sons John and Matthew Rhea, as officers. At least four of the Rhea family were in the War of 1812, of two were captured, Three served, and one died, in the Mexican War. About eighty members of the family served in the War Between the States, all but two being in the Confederate Army. Of these, two died from their wounds; five were killed in battle; and were made prisoners, or captured. Many were on staffs of officers or commanded companies, regiments or battalions. At least fourteen of the family served in the Spanish-American War. One entered the World War, during its first year, as a surgeon with the Canadian Contingent. More than sixty, most of whom were officers, served at the front and at least one was killed and several were wounded or gassed.

The following is partial list of those who have served:

Kincannon

This sketch of the Kincannon family of southwest Virginia starts with the ancester, Francis, born about 1718 and lived in York Co., Penna., at least from 1750 to 1758 (ref: Dr. David Trimble of San Antonio, Tex.). In 1769, he settled in what is now Washington Co., Va. There is a tradition that Francis Kincannon was the only man at the Battle of King's Mountain during the American Revolutionary War who had four sons there also. They were Matthew, Andrew, Francis, Jr., and James. Son George "cried because he was too young to go along." From the records of Botetourt Co., Va., on 13 Mar. 1770, Francis Kincannon was appointed surveyor of the roads from Stalnaker's (now Smyth Co.) to Eighteen Mile Creek (now Washington Co.). Records of Fincastle Co. show that on 5 Jan. 1773, the court ordered James Kincannon, among others, being first sworn, to view the nighest and best way from the Town House (now Smyth Co.) to Eighteen Mile Creek and report. During the early part of 1777, the Washington Co. Court ordered certain roads opened and established. Among them was "a road from James Kincannon's to William Kennedy's Mill." From Summers History of Southwest Virginia, page 402: In 1785, James Kincannon, with others, wrote a letter to the governor of Virginia against Arthur Campbell in the State of Franklin case. Among others mentioned in the letter was Capt. Andrew Kincannon, who, on 16 Feb. 1779, was one of the securities for Arthur Campbell when the latter was appointed sheriff. From Summers' Annals of Washington County, p. 1355, in the list of names to the "call to Rev. Charles Cummings—1772" is found Francis, Andrew and James Kincannon, thus, they are identified as Presbyterians. Their father, Francis, Sr., gave two acres of land, including the meeting house, burying ground and one-half the Glade Spring to the congregation of the Presbyterian Church at Old Glade Spring (Washington Co. Deed Book 5, p. 364). In Washington Co. Will Book 2, p. 65, dated 3 Mar. 1795, Francis Kincannon leaves his estate to his wife Elizabeth and to his children, James, Andrew, Mary Smyth, Francis, Jr., Elizabeth Porterfield, granddaughter Betsy Scott, George, and Matthew. Named executors: John Stewart and James Kincannon. Witnesses: David Snodgrass, Daniel Perkins, and William Beattie. Probated 15 Sept. 1795.

From King's Mountain Men by Katherine K. White, 1924, p. 197: "Andrew, James and Matthew Kincannon of Washington County, Virginia, served with Wm. Campbell at King's Mountain. Matthew was an ensign at the battle and after Capt. Dysart was wounded Andrew Kincannon took command, becoming a full captain in 1782. Andrew was a blacksmith and a gunsmith and is said to have made the first horseshoe in Kentucky. He was tall and large and of fine character and intelligence. After the war he settled (about 1785-86) on Tom's Creek in Surry County, North Carolina where he had iron works and a large plantation. His wife was Catherine McDonald and they had nine children." In Washington Co., Va., Deed Book 1, we find Andrew Kincannon and wife Catherine of Surry Co., N. C., selling two tracts of land containing 361 acres on both sides of Little Holston River in Washington Co., Va., in Mar. 1795.

Following, is an incomplete record of the eight children of Francis Kincannon, Sr., and his wife Elizabeth, apparently all born before he settled in Washington Co., Va.:

I. James Kincannon, b. 1742, d. 1812, m. Sarah McDonald of whom this compiler has found no record. They had no children. He purchased a tract of land before 6 Apr. 1775, part of 2800 acres on Cedar Creek in Fincastle Co. (later, Washington Co.) from Mary Wood of Frederick Co., Va., through her attorney Robert Doak. In Will Book 3, p. 249, Washington Co., Va., records, we find that he bequeathed one-half of his plantation to his wife Sarah and one-half to James "(son of my brother Andrew) on condition that James come and live with my wife after I die. If James does not do that, then the plantation be sold and divided among my brothers and sisters, Andrew, Frank, Matthew and George Kincannon and Mary Smith and Elizabeth Porterfield; to David Kincannon (son of brother Frank), to James (son of my brother George) and appoint John Stewart and William Beattie my executors. 7 Feb. 1798." His will exhibited in court 18 Feb. 1812. In Will Book 7, p. 29, Sarah Kincannon leaves to nephew James Kincannon (mentioned in her husband's will, above) and to Beattie and Polly Ryburn the part of the plantation she was devised by her husband. She appointed Beattie Ryburn her executor, 19 Mar. 1835. Her will was exhibited in court 27 Apr. 1835. (Thus, we find that James Kincannon, son of Andrew, did come live with Sarah until she died, and therefore inherited the elder James' estate.)

II. Andrew Kincannon, Sr., b. 27 Oct. 1744 (ref: King's Mountain Men by K. K. White, p. 197), d. 20 Nov. 1829, m. circa 1770 to Catherine McDonald, b. 7 May 1748, d. "about" 1835 in Surry Co., N. C. Birth dates of Capt. Andrew and wife Catherine are from Bible owned by Priscilla Armstrong of Mt. Airy, N. C. (Note: the following is from the records of Miss Mary Stephenson, Emory, Va., 1931: "Andrew Kincannon, Sr. departed this life 20 day of Nov. 1829 in the County of Surry, N. C. and left his wife Catherine an aged widow and four sons and three daughters, and two sons had died before him, 6 March 1830. James Kincannon.") This James Kincannon is identified as Andrew Kincannon, Sr.'s, grandson (1813-1833). It is thought that Catherine was a sister to Sarah McDonald, wife of James Kincannon. Andrew Kincannon, Sr., and Catherine McDonald had nine children as follows, however, perhaps not in order of birth:

II. 1. Mary Kincannon, m. 7 Feb. 1792 by Rev. Nicholas Reagan to John Wright. (Ref: Washington Co. Mg. Rec., p. 492.)

II. 2. James Kincannon, Esq., b. 1 Mar. 1773, d. 4 Apr. 1836, m. 4 Nov. 1794 to Elizabeth Armstrong, "Betsy," 2nd d/o Hugh and Martha Armstrong, b. 9 Mar. 1776, d. 15 Jan. 1839, buried beside her husband in Old Glade Spring Cemetery, Washington Co., Va. In Washington Co. Will Book 7, p. 107, James Kincannon, Esq., disposes of his estate (inherited from his Uncle James) to his wife Elizabeth; to son Alexander, lands in North Carolina and Kentucky to be sold to pay debt to son Francis; to daughter Sarah Nye; to sons Andrew and Landon. Appointed son Francis and Tobias Smyth executors, 25 Mar. 1836. Exhibited in court 23 May 1836. In Washington Co. Will Book 8, p. 61, Elizabeth Kincannon mentions sons Andrew A.; Landon A. one horse to sell and buy tombstone for deceased son Alexander A.; to James Kincannon (infant s/o F. L.), to Hugh (inf. s/o Francis L.), to Francis (inf. s/o F. L.); to Elizabeth and Sarah Jane Stewart, (ds/o Robert Stewart, husband of dau. Martha); to James, Hugh and Francis, children of Francis L. Kincannon (provided they come to this county to college), if they don't, it goes to my dau. Sarah McD. Nye. Appoints John R. Nye executor, 2 Oct. 1838. Witnesses: R. Gannaway, Charles Collins, Geo. Winniford. Exhibited in court 22 Apr. 1839. The record of their thirteen children is from James Kincannon Bible owned by Mr. Eugene Stephenson of Glade Spring, Va. (Note only four were married and many died young.)

1. Keturah P. Kincannon, b. 7 Sept. 1795, d. 1 May 1812, buried in Old Glade Spring Cemetery.
2. Andrew A. Kincannon, b. 1 Dec. 1797, d. 18 Nov. 1848, buried in Old Glade Spring Cemetery.
3. Martha D. Kincannon, b. 12 Sept. 1800, d. 5 July 1827, buried Old Glade Spring Cemetery, m. Sept. 1819 by Rev. Alexander McEwan, to Robert Stewart (Washington Co. Mg. Rec.). They had two daughters, Elizabeth and Sarah Jane Stewart.

   9. Susie Sanders Kincannon, b. 6 Sept. 1863, d. 8 Mar. 1943 at Richlands, Va. "Cousin Susie" compiled much of the data on the Kincannon and Sanders families for which this compiler is very grateful. She gave the names and dates of her own family to Betty Duff Clark of Abingdon, Va., in 1931, who wrote the following: "Everyone loved Miss Sue, she was a wonderful person—very intelligent, very handsome. I knew her since I was a small child. She came to my father's store (in Abingdon) often, and to Aunt Joe's Millinery shop, and such talking and laughing when those Clark girls converged on her! They all admired and loved her."

JOHN BALL

John Ball was born ca. 1670-75. He lived in Stafford County, Va., and died ca. 1722. He patented 221 acres of land on the north branch of Little Hunting Creek. (Northern Neck Land Grants -2:188). He also bought 343 acres from Robert Brent, executor of Nicholas Brent, on the north side of Hunting Creek. (Deed lease and re-lease dated July 11, 1715; recital in first Fairfax County Survey Book, Page 25).

John Ball removed to Hunting Creek soon after the purchase, and left a will proved in the County Court of Stafford, as shown by the index. The book in which it was recorded (Liber K), covering period 1721 to 1730, is missing.

This John Ball was the father of Moses Ball. (Four Mile-Run Land Grants, by Stetson.) a deed from John Minor to Thomas Shaw, recorded in the Fairfax County records (Deed Book G, Page 1960), established proof of this relationship. It was dated 1767, after John's death.

Moses Ball deposed in two suits over the Western Boundary line of the Housing Patent concerning his parentage and family, in records that have been preserved. In the suit of Alexander vs. Birch he stated that he was a son of John Ball, that he had lived all his life till 1741 on Hunting Creek "about a half a mile above the ford, or crossing place". From then until 1755 he had lived on the Potomac River eight miles from the ford. Stetson stated that this place was known to have been called Glencarlyn Plateau.

John, the father of Moses Ball, is not to be confused with a contemporary John Ball who received a patent of land on the south side of Four Mile-Run in the 1740's, and who was a neighbor of Moses Ball. According to Mr. Stetson, their relationship is unknown, but they were probably "distant cousins". The latter John Ball's wife was Elizabeth Ball. They had no sons, but five daughters: (1) Stacy-m. John Dowdall; (2) Mary-m. Moses Hardin; (3) Milly-m. William Thompson; (4) Winifred -m. John Rallings; (5) __________ (?)-m. James Gray.

Moses Ball (1717-1792), was acting executor of this John Ball's estate after his death in 1766. His widow, Elizabeth Ball, was still on the land in 1792.

John Ball (1) m. Winifred Williams, daughter of William Williams. (Charles Co., Md. Book F, No. 2, page 56) March 9, 1714.

John (1) was known to have had the following children: (he may have been married twice)

2. Caleb Ball-b. ca. 1700; d. June 21, 1741; m. . . . . ?
3. Thomas Ball-b. ca. 1703; d. Oct. 27, 1744; m. Mary . . . . ?
4. Mary Ball b. ca. 1705; m. John Jackson.
5. George Ball b. ca. 1709; m. Ann Hanson, Apr. 15, 1749.
6. John Ball, Jr. b. ca. 1714; m. Margaret Williams, Jan. 2, 1746; d. 1776.
7. Moses Ball b. May 2, 1717; d. Sept. 3, 1792; m. Ann (Nancy) Brasher, June 27, 1745. (See chapter on Brasher Family).
8. Ann Ball b. c. 1719; m. Samuel Hawes, Feb. 16, 1748.
9. James Ball b. . . . . .; m. Catherine . . . . ? d. 1783. He was a lieutenant in the Revolutionary War. According to Land Bounty records he was a younger brother of Moses, whose heirs received shares of said land bounty through court orders. Revolutionary Soldiers of Virginia. "The heirs of James Ball are allowed land bounty for his services as a lieutenant in the Continental Line for three years, if not heretofore drawn."
"John Floyd, Governor."

J. of P., Charles Broadwater, who deposed that he knew James Ball; that he heard and believed that he was the brother of Moses Ball. . . ."

Signed and sworn to June 28, 1835. At the same court, 14th of March, 1835, it was ordered to be certified that James who is said to have been an officer in the Revolutionary War, died about the year 1783; that Moses Ball of Fairfax Co., was his elder brother and heir; that Moses Ball died in the year 1792, testate, but intestate as to the estate of his brother, James Ball". (referring, of course to the land bounty).

"Copy teste. F. W. Richardson, Clerk, Fairfax Co., Va."

John Ball (6) son of John (1), is thought to have been the millwright who rebuilt the old mill for George Washington on Dogue Run.

Known children of John Ball (6) and Margaret Williams:
10. John Ball b. March 20, 1747.
11. Lydia Beck (or Peck) Ball b. Oct. 21, 1748.
12. George Ball --Oct. 9, 1751.

MOSES BALL

Moses Ball [illegible], patented [illegible] acres of land, a narrow strip of land between the line of "the older John Ball" on the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] on the [illegible], and others, including Geo. Washington. The grant was made to Moses Ball by Lord Fairfax (in Northern Neck Land Grants, Book F, p. 288, in State Land Office at Richmond, Va.) in 1748. It included what was known as the until 1755, and supposedly lived in the area of Great Hunting Creek before moving to Four-Mile Run.

He was mentioned in the diary of George Washington. His house is thought to have stood just south of a barn owned by Oliver H. King (in 1930's), which is near the center of Moses Ball's elongated farm. There was an old mill on his land; also one on the land of the other John Ball. Moses was buried at, or near, Clarendon, in the Ball Burying Ground (from a sign at Glencarlyn Post Office.) His grave is unmarked.

In 1789 Moses Ball was forced by circumstances to mortgage his land to William Wilson (Fairfax Deed Book, Liber 5, Folio 10). The will of Moses (Book F, p. 176) in 1786 gave his son, John, the eastern 25 acres of his farm. The rest he gave to his wife, Ann, for the remainder of her life, then, after her demise, to surviving children. He specified that the ten pounds due General Washington were to be paid out of his estate (and may have been paid before his death in 1792). He named his son, John, and Joseph Birch executors.

The land passed out of the family in 1818 as the result of a suit filed in Chancery Court of Fairfax Co., when it was sold to Richard Kirby. (Four-Mile-Run Land Grants-Stetson). The children of Moses and Ann were:

16. John Ball b. July 25, 1746; d. Dec., 1814; m. Mary Ann Thrift. Of whom hereafter.

MOSES BALL

Moses- (Moses-John), b. ca. 1748; d. 1831-2; d. 1831-2; m. Mary Ann Hardin (Harden, Harding, etc.), (See section on Hardin Family) called "Molly"; m. ca. 1770. His name appears in the Fairfax tax records of 1791. This is the last proven record of him until 1797, when he purchased two hundred acres of land near Brown's Mountain, on Beech Creek, Hawkins Co., Tenn. from Samuel Curry. The will of Moses Ball (17) was written (or signed) by him on Dec. 13, 1831, in Hawkins Co.; witnessed by Reuben Barnard, Jesse Ball, John Ball, and James Tunnell--the last a son-in-law, the others probably sons, grandsons, or relatives. The children of Moses Ball, as taken from the will and Land Bounty warrant, are not listed in order of birth. They were:

32. Robert Ball b. March 25, 1780; d. Oct. 29, 1845; m. Mary Straus, b. August 23, 1785. (This information was given to Mrs. L. W. Ledgerwood, Jr. (Tulsa, Okla.) by Mr. Dennis Ball, of Evarts, Ky.) Of whom hereafter.

GEORGE BALL

George..(Moses-John), b. Fairfax (or Alexandria Co.), Va. It is not definitely known when he left Fairfax Co., but it was evidently in the 1790's. He was next heard of at New Garden section of Russell Co., Va. He m. Elizabeth Tunnell (See section on Tunnell Family), probably in the 1770's, and d. in Russell Co. before 1839, when his children were listed as heirs of Lt. James Ball in the Land Bounty Record in Fairfax Co.

(Note: This George Ball has in the past been confused with a contemporary George Ball who came, also from Fairfax Co., Va. prior to 1800, to an area of Va. (or Tenn.) near Bristol, where his wife was supposedly killed by Indians. Afterward he moved with his children to Ball's Bridge, in Lee Co., Va. (Rose Hill, Va.). It is believed that he may have been a cousin of George Ball (19), who settled in Russell Co., Va., and a son of one of Moses Ball's (7) brothers. The Lee County settler, George Ball, was apparently a Revolutionary soldier, while we have no record of George (19) having participated in the Revolution.) Children of George and Elizabeth (Tunnell) Ball:

45. Moses Ball b. Fairfax Co., Va. ca. 1785; d. in Pike Co., Ky., 1866; m. Elizabeth (Betsey) Maynard (Manor).

(Note: Again, there has been much confusion in the past publications concerning Moses, the son of George. In THE BALL FAMILY OF SOUTHWEST VIRGINIA, by Palmer R. Ball and Nancy Graves (Ball) Surface, this Moses Ball had not been located, so it was assumed that he was the Moses Ball who m. Elizabeth Yeary in Lee Co., Va.. However, this was disproved when Mr. William W. Hoskins, of Bluefield, W. Va., found documents in Pike Co., Ky., that proved that he m. Elizabeth Maynard, and remained in Pike Co., Ky., where many of his descendants still live.)

46. William Ball b. April 20, 1791, Fairfax Co., Va. He married and settled in Whitley Co., Ky., where he was living at the time the Land Bounty case was settled. No further records.
47. Sarah (Sally) Ball b. Oct. 22, 1783, "near Alexandria," Va.; d. March 2, 1859; m. . . . . . ? Of whom hereafter.
48. Robert Ball b. April 23, 1786, Fairfax Co., Va.; d. Nov. 28, 1832; m. Sarah Wilson. Of whom hereafter.
49. James (Ballard) Ball b. Oct. 11, 1781, Fairfax Co., Va.; m. Jane Tunnell (170). Of whom hereafter.
50. Elizabeth Ball b. Nov. 26, 1795, Fairfax, Co., Va.; d. 1836. No further record.
51. Wesley Ball b. April 27, 1797, near Alexandria, Va. No further record.
52. George Ball, Jr. b. April 27, 1798; d. April 25, 1865; m. Mary Catherine Hess. Of whom hereafter.
53. Jesse Ball b. Nov. 7, 1801; m. Rebecca Whitt; d. April 24, 1881. Of whom hereafter.
54. John Ball b. June 10, 1779, Fairfax (or Alexandria) Co., Va., d. July 27, 1863; m. his cousin, Polly Ball (40), dau. of Moses Ball (17). Of whom hereafter.
55. Hester Ball b. Dec. 25, 1799; m. Jesse Fuller. Record incomplete.
56. Nancy Ball (Ann) b. Aug. 20, 1793; m. Daniel May. They lived in Pike Co., Ky. Record incomplete.

WESLEY BALL

Wesley - (Thomas-Moses-Moses-John) b. near Jonesville, Lee Co., Va. Jan. 17, 1827; d. near Bonham, Fannin Co., Texas, March 22, 1891; m. Mary Ann Jones, Jan. 17, 1850. She was b. March 12, 1831; d. at Bonham, Texas Dec. 27, 1911; (b. in Hancock Co., Tenn.). She is buried with Wesley in a small cemetery at Dodd City, Texas. Her parents were John and Mariam (Warren) Jones. (John Jones b. May 28, 1804; d. May 2, 1844. Mariam b. Aug. 24, 1804; d. Sept. 16, 1834.)

Wesley Ball enlisted in the Confederate Army at Rogersville Junction, Tenn. (under a W. M. Bradford), as pvt., Co. G., 39th Tenn. Inf., on March 18, 1862; was given on a list of hospitalized prisoners, captured July 4, 1863; was released due to ill health July 15, 1863; returned home (Lee Co., Va.). He had been captured at Vicksburg.

About 1871 Wesley Ball and his family started to Texas in a covered wagon. The trip required so much time and expense that they stopped off in Arkansas for a year, raised a crop for necessary food. They also found that they needed to raise more expense money to continue on their way to Texas. They arrived in Fannin Co., Texas in 1872. Wesley had become partially deaf, due to quinine treatments that had been used for malaria.

His family Bible is still in tact, and in possession of his daughter, Mrs. George Seymour (1954). (Weatherford, Texas).

The earliest Shumate of the branch that is allied with the Ball family, of whom there is positive proof, is Bayless Shumate, b. ca. 1786 in Virginia. (The name is spelled variously: Vales, Bailis, Balias, Baliss, and Bayles.) It seems likely that he was a son of Mark Shumate, whose will dated July 29, 1838, was made in Caliburne Co., Tenn., in which he named his wife, Deborah, and daughters: Mary, Susan C., Sally Martin, Judith Harris, Elizabeth, and Patcey; also his sons: Bales, John, Daniel, William, Demarcus, Thomas, and Hardin.

Bayliss Shumate m. (1) Mary (Polly) Turner, dau. of William Turner and Susannah Bailey. They had two sons: William and Mark H. Shumate. (The latter moved to Cass Co., Mo.) In 1817 Bayless and family were living in Lee Co., Va., but apparently had lived in Kentucky earlier, then back to Ky. The 1830 Harland Co., Ky. census lists him between ages 40 and 50, and without a wife, who had probably died before 1830. Family tradition has it that she drowned while attempting to cross a swollen stream to see a sister's sick child.

On Oct. 13, 1833 Bayliss (Balis) Shumate m. (2) Mary (Polly) Hendrickson, a widow of Thomas Hendrickson, in Ky. This wife accompanied him to Madison Co., Ark. about 1846. The records show that he bought land in the Richland Township that year. He was still in Madison Co. at the time of the 1850 census, but soon afterward, he moved to Washington Co., Ark., where he bought the land known as the Eads Farm, near Durham. Later he bought the "Shively" farm, near Harris, Ark.; and, according to a great-granddaughter, he is buried in one of the two unmarked graves on that farm.

Bayless Shumate valued his real estate at $3000 in the 1850 census report, which was a considerable sum at that time. He also brought Negro slaves with him to Arkansa, according to tradition.

The son of Bayliss Shumate through whom certain descendants of Bennett Ball are descended was William Shumate--b. Nov. 21, 1813, Ky.; d. Jan. 12, 1877. He was m. to Sarah (Sally) Ball, April 7, 1832. Sarah was a dau. of Bennett Ball and Nancy Dec. 22, 1817 (or possibly 1812, according to census reports; she d. Mar. 12, 1901, in Ark.

In 1837 several families migrated together in a rather large colony from Harlan Co., Ky. to Madison Co., Ark., where they settled in what was known as Richland Township. These families included those of: Bailey, Bob Reeves, Samuel Herriman, and Bennett Ball (#37). For further details on this family read the records of Bennett Ball (#37), and those of his daughter, Sarah; or contact Mrs. L. W. Ledgerwood, Jr.--International Petroleum Co.; Talara, Perus, South America.

THE CREECH FAMILY

We have little in the way of authentic records on the early Creech family of Harlan Co., Ky. However, it is said that one Sarah Creech married Charles Blair in Harlan Co., Ky. Feb. 15, 1808. Their Great-Great Grandson, C.R. Blair, lives at 707 So. Belgrade Rd.; Silver Springs, Md., and is believed to have quite a bit of information on the Creech and Blair families. Mrs. Carl A. Stevason (1760 Kessler Blvd.; South Bend 16, Indiana) also has data on the Creech family of Harland County, Ky.

to compile and publish this history

Monument to Rev. Samuel Rhea Gammon erected in Lavras Brazil kind is the wrong kind of education. Look at what many youth of our own nation face today in various forms of literature and other influences.

Any influence on mankind is known properly by its fruit, its products. This History now presents some of the essential information regarding this Branch of the Gammon family, The Sulivan County, Tenn.—largely its origin, and some families closely related to it by marriage, etc.

In most essential affairs of life, this branch has been one which can be most highly commended without any partiality, even though in earliest years in our nation it encountered hardships, many disadvantages for some years.

Richard Gammon

1—1 Richard Gammon, born near London, England, November 23, 1750, died Sullivan County, Tenn., January 24, 1833: as in many instances in history, some statements were made regarding these first ancestors, which were found to be not reliable, that they first came to Norfolk, Va. But reliable official records of Botetourt County Va. has the record that Richard Gammon was united in marriage to Sarah Gamble November 23, 1781 in that county. There appears to be reliable statements that one Colonel David Looney befriended Richard in helpful ways in his first years in the colonies. It is thought that likely, George Gammon a brother may have come with Richard to the colonies, but soon returned to England. It is reliably said that William McClelland went to court to secure marriage license for this couple, record to this effect, and the record states, Sarah was upwards of twenty years of age, her parents not living. Mr. Rhea Anderson a near neighbor of this couple, states Sarah was a niece of Hannah Gamble who married Hugh Crawford and that Sarah was a Charter member of the Blountville Presbyterian church: Mr. Anderson gave much valuable information to this writer on this family.

Mr. Wirt Gammon, Sr. of Rossville, Ga., associated with Chattanooga Times, gave some of most valuable information on much of this family in the form of a chart, or diagram. Sarah Gamble had a sister who married Nathan Gregg. Most persons acquainted with History of our nation, know well that in the early days the dividing lines between states, and counties of states were very imperfect, very indefinite, caused many conflicts. What is now most or all of Sullivan County, Tenn. was once a part of North Carolina. Richard, after a few years residence in Sullivan county, soon after his marriage, became one of the chief leaders in securing a much better government, not alone for his home county, but for the entire state. "Ramsey's Annals" other Histories give these fully. And Richard with few others, took part in a conference at Knoxville, Tenn. which formed a much improved government for the state of Tenn., after the State of Franklin. He and associates selected the site for the first court house of Sullivan County. There was some doubt for short time that he took part in the American Revolutionary War for Independence, but all doubt to that has been fully established, and many have joined the prominent Patriotic Organizations as his descendants. All of these real facts can be secured from Histories. It appears to be reliably stated, that the Ancestry of Sarah Gamble is given in "The First Families of America". Richard, with the Andersons, Fains, Maxwells, Rheas, and others established the first educational institutions in Sullivan County. Richard was also an influential and successful merchant, store in his home town, and a chain of stores in other towns not so far distant. His large farm on Holston river was named "Egypt's Plantation." He was a member of the State Legislature.

2—1 George Gammon was first child of Richard and Sarah, born in Sulivan Co., September 29, 1772 married January 8, 1801 to Jane Gregg, she born December 13, 1783 may have been in Botetourt Co., Va., died in Sullivan Co., November 21, 1853: he died May 18, 1838 Sullivan Co.

George was associated with his father, Richard 1st, in the mercantile business for some years in Blountville, Tenn., and in the several other stores. George was said to have been the Speaker of the House of the Legislature of Tenn. and so continued for about 26 years, and he lived thru the later years of the completion of the county and state governments. Some relatives say George and wife, Jane, were cousins. In this branch of the family, reference is made to the honorable Rev. Hannibal Gammon, who was Mayor of London, England in early years, about 1651. He was a member of the Westminster Assembly, which produced the Directory of Worship, the Confession of Faith, and the Catechisms of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. all of which are used to present day.

As given here, this History almost entirely aims to use the reliable records of this branch of the family, which have been carefully kept and preserved by several families, from the earliest of their ancestors, and have been given to this writer: and so far as understood, will be written in the order according to age, so far as age etc. are given: There will follow very largely in order of age the children, other descendants of George Gammon, and wife Jane Gregg, some of whom married to children of Richard Gammon, the original:

3—1 Sarah Gammon, born 1801, November 24th, given in "Record of Gammon Family from a file at Mt. Pleasant, Sullivan Co., 1898" and "as oldest child of George and Jane, his wife": in another family records, Sarah married Joseph Gilman February 10, 1821, he died at Mt. Pleasant 1865 about, she died February 27, 1872, same place: No children:

3—2 Nathan Gammon (given also as Nathaniel), next child of George and Jane, born May 19, 1803 at Mt. Pleasant, Sullivan County, died Jefferson Co., Tenn. June 14, 1869 at "Soldiers' Rest". He married July 20, 1824 Mary Elizabeth Hamilton of Sullivan Co., she born January 20, 1806, she died Jefferson Co., Tenn., January 6, 1895: she was a daughter of Col. Joseph Hamilton and a grand daughter of Col. Alexander Outlaw, both of whom were very active in early Va. and Tenn.: Nathan, above, was Clerk of the U. S. Court, later clerk of the Court of the Confederacy at Knoxville, Tenn.: children, other descendants of Nathan and wife (3—2) follow:

There follows First children of Nathan Sr. (3—2), later other descendants of Nathan Sr.:

4—1 Elizabeth Hamilton Looney Gammon, born August 24, 1825, married to Wm. Patterson Blair, December 31, 1846 at Jonesboro, Tenn.: she died, Asheville, N. C., September 14, 1898; he born, Jonesboro, Tenn., October 19, 1820, died Asheville September 14, 1898: Their children what is known, given clearly, follow: William Alexander, Mary Hamilton, Alice had a daughter, Louise, who married William Thompson and lived in Penn.: and their children were William and Elizabeth: William Alex married 1st Lucretia Morrison, two children, Hilliard, and Louise: by 2nd marriage to Eva Fulkerson, no children, by 3rd marriage to Hattie Fulkerson, William Blair Hillard, not married; their child: and this Wm., not married. William Thompson, husband of Louise, was of Asheville, N. Carolina, their children were Robert and Elizabeth living in the East, likely Penn.: Alice I. Blair married James Reynolds of Asheville: several grand children, other descendants are given, but only the names, and majority lived away some distance: All given: To have most convenient Plan, or arrangement, other children of Nathan Sr. (3—2), follow:

4—2 William Hamilton Gammon, born July 17, 1830, in Sullivan Co., Tenn., died New Jersey, 1864 or 65, murdered likely due to war strife or hatred.

4—3 Jane Letitia Gammon, born Jonesboro, Tenn., single, born May 10, 1834, died Knoxville, Tenn. from auto accident, died December 25, 1952: she helped so much on this history with well written valuable information.

4—4 Joseph Hamilton Gammon, born Jonesboro, November 4, 1837, single, died London, Ky. April 3, 1873:

4—5 Mary Imogene Gammon, born same place as others, born May 7, 1884, died as infant:

4—6 George Alexander Gammon, born November 18, 1841 at Jonesboro, married at Rogersville, Tenn. November 17, 1874 to Margaret Hamilton Hale, she born Hawkins Co., Tenn. February 26, 1849, died Knoxville, Tenn. April 22, 1915, her last address: their children as given by a son, were, 5—1 (all Gammons at birth), Mary Somerville, born Knoxville, November 8, 1876, single, died Knoxville, March 3, 1929:

5—2 Josephine Hamilton, born January 22, 1878, died Knoxville February 29, 1928, her address for some years: These two ladies were teachers most of their adult lives, served in prominent positions in Educational Institutions, Mary S. was in charge of the English Department at State Normal, Fredericksburg, Va., and her sister occupied similar positions. They were well educated, cultured people. They taught well not alone some subjects, but taught the most essential truths of life by example as well as by activity. George A. is last child of Nathan Sr. (3—2), children, other descendants of George A. follow:

5—3 Robert Hale Gammon, born November 22, 1879 Knoxville, single, was editor of prominent paper for some years, but trouble with eyesight, he became a prominent lawyer and served so for some years: he died March 18, 1951: he was associated with his brother, also a lawyer.

5—4 This is last of George A. and wife's children, Nathan Gammon (try not to be confused by frequent repetitions of same names), born January 20, 1882 Knoxville, married there June 18, 1913, to Mabel Agnes Fair, she born Harrisonville, Mich.: gives names of his children and grand children, but not give which were children, etc.; can tell, only guess by age; children likely, next:

6—1 Dr. Nathan Gammon, Jr., born June 22, 1914, married February 12, 1941 to Dorothy V. Allen: children of Dr. Nathan ad Dorothy V. are, Nathan Allen, born 1945, Penelope Gay, born 1948: Dr. Nathan (6—1) is connected with the University of Florida, Gainesville.

6—2 James Eugene Fair Gammon born 1915, married 1943 to Doris Nettie Gamble: their children are; James Alexander born 1947 and Sarah Elizabeth, born 1950: the father is associated with the Department of Interior, as attorney, at Washington, D. C.

6—3 Margaret Agnes Gammon, born October 29, 1945, married to Dr. William Lawrence Prichett of University of Florida: their children are, William L. Jr., born 1951: Jenifer Lee, born 1953: Jonathan Bruce born 1954: and Scott Edward born 1958 (all Pritchetts): for present addresses of most of these consult some near relative, as addresses of many change often. This, and previous pages, seems to fully complete all given of descendants of Nathan Gammon, Sr (3—2) and wife.

It is likely here wise and helpful to those who read this, to give a brief explanation: In the well prepared list of names, dates of births, marriages etc. given this writer, which appear to have been carefully kept, are many of the statements above.

History continues on children of George Gammon 1st, and wife, Jane, he son of 1st Richard as given by family records.

3—3 Richard Gammon born October 18, 1805 in Sullivan Co., Tenn., married Mary Chester June 30, 1828, she born March 7, 1810 Washington Co., Tenn., he died 1934 Blountville, Tenn., near their children's birth place, as follows, Nathan born 1828, died 1845, John C. and George, twins, born and died 1830, Jane Gregg born 1833; married Henry Wilds January 7, 1851 at Jonesboro: Mrs. Richard Gammon, (3—3) married 2d Robert Allison, she died March 1861:

October 3, 1935: he held pastorates in Mo, Liberty, and Columbia, and others, and has been for some years pastor of Presbyterian church at Gastonia, N. Carolina. This writer has known of him for some years. Their children, facts given some years ago, Margaret Neel Moffett, born 1930, Knoxville: Harry McClellan Moffett, III, born Kansas City, Mo. This and previous pages, seems to complete all descendants of Abraham L. in his second marriage: there follows, what is known of children of his third marriage, as given by his son, George L. Gammon of Pueblo, Colo.:

4—4 George L. Gammon, he gives following: he was born Boring, Tenn. September 30, 1853, married Chattanooga, Tenn. May 22, 1890 to Rose Haus, she born California, Mo October 19, 1862: George L. says his father was Abraham Looney Gammon, his mother Sarah Gammon; they were cousins. George, the son, says Sarah Ann Pence was his mother, born Kingsport, Tenn., died at Boring, Tenn. 1883, she married his father, Abraham Looney Gammon, November 15, 1866: He says these were children of this third marriage:

4—5 Mrs. Anne E. Dinkle, (all born Boring, Tenn.), September 23, 1851, married Calvin N. Dinkle in 1874, address then Johnson City, Tenn:

4—6 Mrs. Susan A. Hawley married William H. Hawley 1882:

4—7 David Pence Gammon, born 1858, married Kathrine Keebler at Midway, Tenn., 1891: he died Greeneville, Tenn. 1907:

4—8 Leona M. Gammon born -------, died Greeneville 1890:

4—9 Eugenia Hortense born 1860, married Harry Goddard at Greeneville, Tenn. 1916:

4—10 Annis, or Anna Elizabeth, born Sullivan Co., Tenn. 1864, address Greeneville, says Abraham Looney Gammon was her father: George, the son, says his grand parents were Richard Gammon and Susan Wantland, she of Baltimore, Md. Another appears, says she is child of Abraham L. Gammon and wife Sarah:

4—11 Olivene Gammon, says so her maiden name, born Sullivan Co., January 15, 1856, married to Richard Gammon March 16, 1892 in Washington Co., Tenn., he died Greeneville, Tenn. June 25, 1907, says her parents were Abraham L and Sarah, who died in Sullivan Co., 1872: she gives same brothers of her father, Nathan, Wm. B., etc., that several near relatives gave: Dr. Landon H. Gammon, Sr., M. D. says Olivene married Richard Gammon, a son of Abraham Gammon. The two children of Olive and Richard, were Landon Haynes Gammon, born 1903, and Robert Taylor Gammon, born 1906: Olivene died April 2, 1926 in Greeneville, Tenn.: her son, Landon H. had married Mary G. Neas, address of Robert T. Gammon was Kingsport, Tenn.: Olivene had said another child of Abraham L. Gammon was Nathan Vaughn Gammon, 4—12, born November 7, 1844, married August 31, 1871 to Anna Hester Stuart, their children were, Mabel, then single, and Lucy Lee, died age 2 years: Nathan was a descendant of a Richard Gammon who was a merchant at Embreeville, Tenn.

Yet another appears as a son of Abraham L., as last child by second wife, 4—13 Deaderich Anderson Gammon, relatives say he a son of Abraham L. Gammon: In old reliable records of first ancestors of this family, is a marriage record Harriet L. Gammon, married Deadrich Anderson, all given: other relatives give that Deadrich Anderson Gammon married Willie Glaze, and their daughter was Jessie Glaze: he died 1895. Nothing more is given. Abraham L. had a twin brother, George, not married, died at Caney Branch, Tenn. 1887: Is said their cradle is yet at Bristol, Tenn.

Here another child, really the last of Abraham L., January, 1929, Mrs. Susan L. Deck, wife of John B. Deck, writes she is the youngest child of Capt. Abraham L. Gammon and the only living child, she born Sullivan Co., Tenn. August 8, 1859. She gives names of her children also: Official records of this Family, give next of George 1st and wife Jane, as 3—7 Jane Gregg Gammon, born January 29, 1815, married June 18, 1834 to Stephen Decatur Stuart, he born 1813, died 1897, she born same place as her brothers Abraham L., Richard, and others: their son, George born 1844, died 1929 suddenly in Savannah, Ga.: there were other children, no information given.

3—8 James Gregg Gammon, next child of George 1st, wife Jane, by Family records, born Blountville, Tenn. January 18, 1824, married January 28, 1846, to Evalina Aiken Barkley (given also Berkley), she born June 20, 1826 at Rheatown, Tenn., died 1912, James G., died 1886 at Mt. Pleasant, Tenn.: their children were 4—1 Alice Lorena Gammon, born Rheatown, September 10, 1847, married Charles Sidney Gookin at Blountville 1865: this family lived most of adult life in Iowa, Columbus Junction, and Ainsworth: Address of daughter Mrs. John Glegg was Ainsworth.

4—2 William Berkley Gammon, (as he gave it), born January 1, 1849 at Rheatown, married to Cynthia Sassamon of Mississippi in 1871, last address Memphis, Tenn. in 1917: their son, J. P. same address: James G. and wife, during civil war lived in Bristol and bought supplies for the army.

4—3 George Nathan Gammon, born 1859, died 1887 at Jonesboro, Tenn.

4—4 Armetta James Gammon born 1861 at Bristol, married Samuel Pence at Blountville, 1909, no children:

4—5 Robert E. Lee Gammon, born at Bristol 1863, died October 4, 1961, he married Elizabeth Barnes of Blountville, in 1894, she born 1875, died 1925 at Fordtown, Tenn: he lived for some years with his sister, Mrs. Samuel Pence: His children were, George of Fordtown, James died as infant: Ava married Perry Slaughter, Mary Eva married Henry Gross, Elizabeth M. married Paris Pendleton: Preston married Ben Mills, Samuel P. Gammon married Bunna Couch, Robert L. Jr., not given:

4—3 Eva Rebecca Gammon, born Blountville, June 4, 1857, married September 10, 1897 same place, to Robert C. Thomas, he born Jonesboro, 1855, died there April 17, 1917, had a stroke, she died 1932. She gave much valuable information for this history several times: She said her parents were James G. Gammon and Evalina A. Barkley: her children, all born in Jonesboro. The children of Robert C. Thomas and wife, Eva Rebecca (Gammon) Thomas, were Beulah, married Eugene Gillespie of Limestone, Tenn., he died 1943: Lena Aken married Taylor

E. Whittaker of Lee Co., Va., this writer had a letter from her: he died 1945 in Bristol, Va.: Ann Boreous married Thomas Waller Chambers of Pamplin, Va., June 6, 1906: George married Margaret Hoss 1914 in Jonesboro, address Nashville, Tenn., no children: Mary Sue married Karl Thomas, (no relation), address Bluefield, W. Va.

1289 Sullivan Co

3—9 George Fain Gammon Sr., born August 19, 1817, likely in Sullivan Co., Tenn., birth place of several of his first ancestors: A number of most valuable family records, do not give places of births, or marraiges, some not dates of birth, etc.: what follows regarding him, and his descendants, are taken from reliable family records. In most any records on most subjects, there will be some different statements. As to dates of birth and marriage of these early ancestors, records appear to be fully reliable: he married Lavinia Haynes December 3, 1840, she a daughter of David Haynes, a sister of Landon C. Haynes, a very gifted orator, married at Elizabethton, reliable record says married in Carter Co., Tenn. Dr. Landon Haynes Gammon, M. D., once mayor of Bristol, Tenn., said of George Fain Gammon, he wrote a beautiful hand, was clerk of Sullivan Co. Court after the civil war: his wife descended from very prominent families:

Before this writer are two lists of the 15 children of this man, George Fain Gammon and wife: one list was given by Dr. Landon Haynes Gammon, M. D., Sr., a son of George Fain Gammon; very slight difference in it from the other: Their children were:

4—1 Mary Emma (all Gammons at birth), born July 3, 1842, died age 8 years: NOTE Dr. Landon H. Gammon, M. D. states all these children, he among them, born in Sullivan Co.):

4—2 Annis B. born December 22, 1843, she died 1909:

4—3 David H. born May 4, 1845 (a record says born Caney Ford, Tenn.), he died Washington Co., Va., February 25, 1869:

4—4 Rowena, born October 25, 1846, (full name Rowena Ross), she married September 3, 1874 at Blountville, to Landon K. Snapp, he born Blountville, 1843, died there 1906: their children, Ellen Hughes, born October 15, 1875, married S. B. Kinney 1900, died 1919: James P., born 1877, died January 2, 1946: Lavinia G., born November 15, 1879, married January 6, 1904 at Bristol, Va. to Wiley Rogers Stoffle, he born Sullivan Co., 1875, address Arcadia, Florida, Rt. 2: Paul E., born 1886, died 1928, married Mary Wilson, next child of George F,

4—5 Anna Rhoda, born July 24, 1848:

4—6 Ida, born April 5, 1850, married January 20, 1875 at Blountville, to Oscar Miller, Glade Springs, Va., he born there 1847, their children were, Elizabeth Miller, born November 23, 1875 near Glade Springs, married November 24, 1897 at Methodist church to Thomas Buchanan Porterfield, he born Glade Springs, January 1, 1866: children of Porterfield parents were Olivene born September 25, 1898 (all born Bradford, Va.), Oscar M. born May 20, 1900: Thomas born March 9, 1906:

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Porterfield, were, Olivene born September 25, 1898, all born Bradford, Va., Oscar M. born February 20, 1900, Thomas L. born March 6, 1906, Elizabeth R., born December 21, 1912, Olivene, above, married William E. Merritt, Oscar M. married Agnes Bell, Thomas M. married Doris Hamilton, Elizabeth B. married William W. McClannang (appears): Olive Miller born November 9, 1878 married William G. Buchanan: Oscar Miller, born 1910, married Helen E. Wilkinson: William G., born 1913, married Josephine Maxwell: Landon Gammon born 1918, married Ruth Rogers; this completes all on these children continues children of George Fain Gammon Sr.

4—7 George Fain Gammon, Jr., born June 6, 1851, died likely Washington Co., Va., single:

4—8 Matthew Haynes Gammon, born July 8, 1853, married Fincastle Co., Va., April 21, 1884 to Sarah Wiley of Va.: she died February 12, 1932, age 74 years: he died June 6, 1926 at Knoxville, Tenn.: a daughter, Mrs. William B. Martin of Knoxville, gave this of couple:

4—8: their six children were: Eleanor Sue, then Mrs. Edward Steinhardt of New York, her first husband was John H. McMillin of Nashville, Tenn.; Robert Taylor Gammon born 1889 Johnson City, Tenn., died March 30, 1947, address of his widow, Manaster, Ill.: Florence Catherine, now Mrs. Littlefield, she married June 8, 1921, address Knoxville: and Mrs. William B. Martin, 2019 White Ave., Knoxville 16: (continues on Fain children):

4—9 Olivene Gammon, born January 13, 1855, 4—1 she gave Abraham Looney Gammon, as her father) (think she is mistaken): (two different lists give her as daughter of George Fain G.:

4—10 Ped H. Gammon, born April 10, 1857 (name said to be nickname for a girl), (a relative gives Ped Haynes Gammon), relatives state she married 1878 (also marriage date given as 1885, in Washington Co., Tenn. to John Webb: she died 1885 Sullivan Co., her last known address, Bluff City, Tenn., no reply to inquiry): their children, given as Hassie, married Mr. Eads, address Bluff City, Robert Webb, died Rogersville, Tenn., L. Fred Webb died Rogersville, Tenn.:

4—11 Mary E. Gammon, born June 10, 1859: Note 1st on this list of children, was Mary Emma, died age 8 years: it is known to be true, that if a child died quite young, later another child was given same name: true here likely:

4—12 Dr. Landon Haynes Gammon, Sr., born April 6, 1861: this name not on the other list here: but Dr. Landon has one of these lists and gave much other reliable information, found to be fully correct.

This list by Dr. Landon Haynes Gammon, Sr. agrees fully with other reliable information by relatives who give much valuable information, and he was one of 15 children of George Fain Gammon and wife:

4—12 Landon Haynes Gammon, Sr.: he was born April 6, 1861, died October 31, 1963, born at Bristol or Sullivan Co. (he gives the latter), he died at Bristol, Tenn.: he married Rosa Cabell Miller, of Bristol, Tenn.-Va. (Bristol was part in Tenn., part in Va. in 1894); he graduated from the University of Va. in 1892, Medical Department, with M. D. degree, and began practice as a physician at Saltville, Va., but in 1903 he moved to Bristol, Tenn., and continued to practice there for more than twenty years. By constant reading, careful observation, he kept in close touch with the best methods to serve the people. He was twice elected mayor of Bristol, and in a busineess capacity as mayor rendered much valuable service to the city. He was connected with the Democratic party, and once when much pressed into service, proved to be quite a convincing orator. He married, after death of his first wife, a second time to Corilla Crocket mentioned later: by his first marriage, they had four children, as follows:

5—1 Landon Haynes Gammon, Jr., born September 28, 1896 at Bristol, married June 30, 1926 to Katherine O. Conn of Chattanooga, Tenn.: they have no children: he graduated from the University of Va., and later completed a Law Course at Harvard University securing the L. L. B. degree. Their address is 705 Battery Place, Chattanooga, Tenn. He served in U. S. armed forces in World War I, and knew the other Landon Haynes Gammon of Green County, Tenn., distantly related. Be careful of the frequent repetition of same names in this and other branches of the family.

5—2 Dr. William Miller Gammon born May 13, 1900, in Bristol: his mother, Rosa C. Miller, was a granddaughter of Patrick Henry who used the words "Give me Liberty or Give me death" likely before the legislature of Va. at St. John's church where that body was in session, it is stated. He also graduated from the University of Va. Medical Department with M. D. Degree, and since has served as a physician. Preceding his University graduation he also served in the Armed forces of U. S. in World War I, later served as athletic coach and teacher in the Episcopal high school of Washington, D. C.: he was united in marriage November 7, 1933 to Alys Hughes Lavinder, she born January 21, 1910: their children are, Nancy born July 25, 1938; Jane born March 7, 1942; address, Bristol, Va., Box 89.

5—3 Margaret Henry Gammon, born September 21, 1898, likely in Bristol, she graduated from Randolph-Macon college, Lynchburg, Va., taught Latin at Stuart Hall, Staunton, Va. and in high school at Johnson City, Tenn. and at Hattiesburg, Miss.: she has held a position of advertising with Lever Bros., Cambridge, Mass., which was one of her recent addresses. She with her brothers, though all quite active and busy persons, have aided with reliable information for this history. Her latest address, given by her brother in 1960, is 217 75th St., Virginia Beach, Va.

5—4 Wirt Henry Gammon, Sr., born December 29, 1905, Bristol, Tenn., he attended the Episcopal high school and the University of Va.

and has served for some years and is so engaged at present, as Sports Editor of the Chattanooga Times paper. Dr. Landon H. Gammon Sr. from 1911 thru his life time, gave most valuable information for this History and his children have followed in his footsteps. Wirt Sr. has given diagrams, or charts on the whole Sullivan County, Tenn., branch, which have proved most helpful. Really he should have prepared this History. He married 1st, Brooke Younger Robinson January 26, 1933, she born October 8, 1907 at Shawville, Va.: he married next Hermina S. Straub, she born May 8, 1912 at Rossville: their address, Clair St., Rossville, Ga., or (Care of Chattanooga Times.) Their children, by first wife, are Wirt Henry Jr., born Chattanooga, 1934: Ann Brook born April 7, 1946:

5—5 David Haynes Gammon, by Dr. Landon H. Sr., second marriage: For any additional information on David Haynes Gammon, his mother their present address, if living, inquire of Wirt Gammon, Sr. above, or the other brothers. History continues on other children of George Fain Gammon and wife,

4—13 Kittie L. Gammon, born October 15, 1862 Sullivan Co., married 1st Nathaniel Taylor, brother of Senator Robert Taylor: married 2nd, W. P. Leach: her last address, Johnson City, Tenn.:

4—14 Charles Edward Gammon, born September 3, 1866, he died October 29, 1960 at Rural Retreat, his home for many years: He was associated for some years in merchantile business with William Faris Gammon, in Rural Retreat: Charles E. married a sister of William Faris Gammon, Nancy Spence Gammon, married July 15, 1891: he died October 29, 1960 Rural Retreat. He was a most earnest Christian, superintendent of his church Sabbath school for a number of years. He gave most courteously to this writer valuable information for this History, more than once, as did his wife also: child of Charles E. and wife was 5—1, his only son writes. Frank Audley Gammon, born likely at Rural Retreat, date not given: Frank A. is very active in the work of their church, so you see the great influence of a home and parents down thru the future. Frank A. has a son Charles Edward Gammon, a Presbyterian minister, served efficiently for some years in Chattanooga, Tenn. as pastor, and now in Alexandria, Va. or near there, continuing to serve successfully: Frank A. has another child, he writes, Mrs. Martha (Gammon) Wilson, of Knoxville, Tenn.: This writer thru friends in Ohio has heard of his good work in his late pastorate: So remember that Charles E. Gammon and wife are not dead in one sense, but continue to live and service thru their descendants, as all who will so continue to do.

4—15 Robert Love Gammon, born April 24, 1869, last child of George Fain Gammon and wife, of the 15 children. Dr. Landon Haynes Gammon, Sr., wrote this writer that Robert L. had charge of the old family record, mailed a copy to Dr. Landon H. Gammon, Sr. Quite regret that nothing more is given regarding Robert L. Some may wonder if 15 children can be brought into life, and leave mother in best of health, and if she could be able to protect the health and give those children the training which she would earnestly desire and need.

As the history advances to present facts on other parts of this branch, strong effort is made to follow the Regular Plan of Arrangement of facts: But when ages, dates of births, etc. not given, or not the same, not possible to always follow regular plan: by the Plan, the History now arrives at next child of William B. Gammon (3—4):

4—1 Audley Anderson Gammon, born Blountville, Tenn. February 27, 1834, he died Rural Retreat, Va. August, 1905 at his home, his parents were William B. Gammon and Rebecca Anderson: Audley A. married Mary John Faris July 8, 1858 at the home of her father, Benjamin Faris in Botetourt Co., Va. Mary John spent the last years of her life with her mother Mrs. Charles E. Gammon at Rural Retreat, Va.: The oldest child of Audley A, was:

5—1 William Faris Gammon, born Blountville, January 8, 1860, married December 26, 1888, 1st to Minnie Hicks, she born March 30, 1864, Marion, Va., she died Rural Retreat, March 28, 1896: he married next July 10, 1912 at Rural Retreat Ida Lee Baumgardner: the obituary of William Faris, states he kept the prophecy, "To do Justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with thy God", a very pious man in life, for thirty years an elder in Presbyterian church, and in mercantile business with Charles E. Gammon for many years. He mentions his brother, Rev. Samuel R. Gammon as a missionary, then in Brazil. See again, the molding influence of home and parents, down thru the future. It is proper here to add what is given by a son of first marriage of William Faris Gammon to Minnie Hicks:

6—1 Dr. Samuel Rhea Gammon II, wrote few years ago (his address likely different at present), that he was born November 26, 1889 at Rural Retreat, Va., married at Augusta, Ga. July 6, 1918 to Ellen Kathrine Rothe, she born in Chicago 1889: their children were Lieut. William Faris Gammon II, born Baltimore, Md. August 26, 1921, and Lieut. Samuel Rhea Gammon, III, born Sherman, Texas January 22, 1924. The father, Dr. Samued R. Gammon, says he is a son of William Faris Gammon, of whom complete information has just been given here, and that he has received from Audley A. Gammon much reliable history of his own part of the family, and is not interested in additional information on other parts of this branch. He writes excellent letters, gave some aid to this History, and evidenced culture and knowledge. Regret that William Faris did not mention any of his children, but he gave facts on his brothers and sisters as follows

5—2 Elizabeth (all Gammons 1st), (all born Bristol, Tenn.), she born October 2, 1862, single, died February 22, 1882:

5—3 Nancy Spence, given previously, married Charles E. Gammon, she born October 11, 1867:

5—4 Minnie Gammon, born December 4, 1869 (daughter of Audley A. Gammon, she married 1898, November, at Rural Retreat, to Dr. Charles K. Kernan, M. D., he born Russell Co., Va., he a son of Dr. Thomas D. Kernan, M. D. from Winston-Salem, N. Carolina: Dr. Charles K. practiced in Washington Co., Va., later in Bristol, and in

Pulaski Co., Va.: The children of Minnie and Dr. Charles K. Kernan, were, regret very little given:

6—1 Rev. Charles W. Kernan, born Bristol, Tenn. March 27, 1903, married September 17, 1931 at Charleston, W. Va. to Dorothy Elizabeth Lynn of Charleston, their children are (as given 1944) daughter, Lynn Kernan, born Bristol, April 28, 1934, Thomas Edward Kernan, born May 28, 1937 at Bristol, Tenn.:

6—2 Mary Kremer Kernan (sister of Rev.), address then, Petersburg, Va., she a teacher in Mr. Hill's schools. Address of Rev. Charles K., 205 Park Ave, Barboursville, W. Va. He has served several Presbyterian churches as pastor, and yet does so. William Faris Gammon, of whom all just previously given, gave these facts which some may wish to know, of brothers and sisters of his father, of William Faris G.: Dr. George Gammon married Barsha Rutledge, both not living: William D. Gammon married Aurelia Shields, daughter of Judge J. K. Shields, not living: Abraham Looney Gammon, then living in Rural Retreat, Va. (said NEVER married, must be the other Abe L.): Nancy, died single at Morristown, Tenn.: Sallie J. died Rural Retreat, also Elizabeth, died same: Frances married Robert Allen of Tenn., after his death, married John W. Spence of Rural Retreat, both not living: Thus far this appears to complete all information on descendants of Audley Anderson Gammon except one:

5—1 Rev. Samuel Rhea Gammon, missionary to Brazil: he born March 30, 1865: first, will be given a biographical history: born Bristol, Tenn.: much of this information, given by William Faris Gammon, his brother: in preparing for his life work, he graduated from King College with B.L. and D.D. degrees, and from Hampden-Sidney Seminary: he married 1st Willie Brown Humphreys June 27, 1894 at Newberry, Va.: this wife died at Rural Retreat June 21, 1908, she was born March 23, 1865 at White Gate, Va.; only one child from this first marriage:

6—1 Mary Elizabeth Gammon was born at Lavras, Brazil, September 10, 1875, married at Rural Retreat, Va. September 11, 1918 to Rev. Augustus Lee Davis of Crawfordville, Ga.: they served as missionaries in Brazil for some years until time of retirement: Davis children were, (all Davis at birth), Willie Gammon, born Society Hill, S. Carolina, June 15, 1920, married June 13, 1943 to Claud Nelson Jr. at Atlanta, Ga.:

7—2 Margaret Lee, born Lavras, Brazil, May 2, 1922, then and later single, in college preparing for mission service:

7—3 Samuel A., born 1924 Olivera, Minas, Brazil, then also single, preparing for mission work: Rev. Samuel R. married next Clara Gennet Moore of Richmond, Va., after death of first wife, who was a teacher in mission work, giving excellent service: the wife of second marriage was also a teacher in Brazil in mission school: 2nd marriage was in Lavras, Brazil in 1911.

Clara Gennet Moore, second wife of Rev. Samuel R. Gammon, was born April 3, 1879 in Richmond, Va., married to Rev. Gammon February 27, 1911 at Lavras, Minas, Brazil: their children were:

6—2 Alice Gennet Gammon, born Lavras, Brazil, January 27, 1912, married Lavras February 27, 1940 to Orsini de Araujo Coriolano of

Brazil: address secured from missionaries, or such literature, many addresses change often:

6—3 Audley Anderson Gammon, born Rural Retreat, Va. August 28, 1913, married Sao Paulo, Brazil, December 20, 1940 to Beatriz Real; address Rio de Janeiro, Brazil:

6—4 Willie Humphreys Gammon, born Lavras July 1, 1916, a girl, often known as Miss Billy Gammon: address get from mission field: She has been successful for some years as missionary among young people of the Presbyterian church in Brazil and attends conferences at Montreat, N. Carolina. The home of this writer had the rare honor to have Miss Billy and her mother for a meal with us few years ago.

6—5 Rev. Richard Rhea Gammon, born January 15, 1920 at Lavras, Brazil, married May 19, 1943 at Carolina Presbyterian church, Little Rock, S. Carolina, to Flora Louise MacDonald, born November 21, 1911 Little Rock, S. Carolina: their only child is:

7—1 Flora MacDonald Gammon, born May 17, 1946 at Fayette, N. Carolina. Address of parents, 603 Elm St., Greenville, N. Carolina.

Rev. Richard R. Gammon completed the regular college and Theological Seminary courses, received degrees for such and also has a Th.M. degree, has served successfully several churches and is so doing yet.

7—4 Lalla Fraser Gammon, born Panama City, Florida September 28, 1953, entering sixth grade of Lake City Elementary school.

This completes all information on descendants of Rev. Samuel Rhea Gammon of the two marriages, it appears.

Some information of the biographical sketch of Rev. Samuel R. Gammon was quoted from the very gifted, consecrated Christian, Miss Lucile DuBose, whom this writer knew. This writer desires to give some personal expressions in closing the account on Rev. Samuel R. Gammon, and his relation to this history. He first met me at Louisville, Ky. Presbyterian Seminary, about 1908, and after that wrote me several letters, suggesting, and requesting that we produce a Gammon History, extending back to Honorable Hannibal Gammon, Lord Mayor of London, England in 1200: to do that must be expected of some rare genius of the future, who can do so much better than the present efforts. In 1925, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. met in Lexington, Ky. Rev. Samuel R. Gammon was present, came to Carlisle, Ky. residence of this writer, wife and daughter (Anna Louise). He conducted the morning worship (Sabbath), and at night gave a stereopticon address on Lavras school, now in honor of him, Gammon Institute, I believe. We had the honor of having him in our home at Carlisle, and enjoyed much that great privilege. A number of other letters came from him in next few years.

It seems he died about 1928, NO, while he has passed from earth to his final home, HE WILL NEVER DIE, never cease to exert a powerful influence here on the earth in the memory of a great multiude who knew him, loved him, honored, and thru his descendants HE YET LIVES AND WORKS.

Whatever small value this History may be to some of you, it was he who started the work to produce it. As has been here mentioned, the cloudy muddy water of the great Mississippi-Missouri river can be traced far, very far into the clear waters of the Gulf of Mexico, more so can the lives, activities be traced thru countless years of the future of such persons as Rev. Samuel Rhea Gammon, D. D. To him, this History, poor as it is, is most gladly, honorably dedicated to him. This writer, during several years of the past, produced several Histories of churches which he served, and of some of his mother's family, Worthingtons, and some of his grand mothers the Fuquas of Va., the Truitts of Delaware, the Mortons and Woodsons of Va., as earlier ancestors, entered Sons of Revolution thru Capt. John Morton of Prince Edward County, Va. whose five or six sons served in the American Revolution, and to whom we of U. S. are much indebted.

At this time, August, 1964 in preparing information for the completion of this part of the History of the Gammon family, this information should be given. All known on that part of the Sullivan County, Tenn. branch, which originated and older ones live in Sullivan Co., Tenn., and some near by counties, etc. has been typed and given to the printer. But most all older early ones of this branch, know that on account of intense bitterness and strife regarding civil war, some of this branch, at least one to protect his life, moved to Georgia about close of the war. It is on this part of the Sullivan County branch that information follows, in full accordance with and dependence very largely on those old well preserved family records, on births, marriages, etc. of the children of Richard the Original ancestors, other of his descendants, and those of his son George, 1st and wife Jane Gregg and their descendants. This writer depends upon, and uses almost exclusively what has been given him by members of this part of the family, in this part of this History. And as usual a few errors are to be found in few statements, they are mentioned that it may be fully understood that great care is taken to secure and present only the truth, so far as could be gotten. In earlier times, to first secure reliable facts, then preserve and pass down to future generations, is a very difficult task, so errors should not be too severely criticized. Here is one, that a descendant of a certain Richard Gammon of this branch, founded the school for education of colored ministers at Atlanta, Ga. There are most reliable facts of much earlier years, and of the present from that institution, that a Rev. Elijah Gammon from Maine established that college at Atlanta, Ga. This is only mentioned to gest what care in choosing information must be taken.

In the original Family records, there is given, Richard, the Original, Richard, Jr. so designated, in records, born 1788, and a Richard born in 1805; of the latter full information has already been given from reliable sources. So it would appear true by reliable sources, that the Richard who left Tenn. moved to Ga. was the Richard born in 1788: The problem just here, in PLAN of Arrangement of names of persons.

Now in this, as in all other branches of families, there appears, errors, mistakes, which need not be severely condemned, as those who made mistakes, did the best they could. In early days, with wars, movings, homes burned, scarcity of reliable information, it was very difficult to secure, and preserve exactly correct records.

Now the History continues on this Richard:

2—2, born 1788, in Sullivan Co., Tenn., most likely where other children were born, he a son of First Richard: he died September 13, 51, age 97 years, as given by near relatives. He is the only Richard o can be reliably given in this place, as Richard 3—3, and others have been truthfully given and accounted for in previous typing. Richard born 1805 married Mary Chester is properly placed in accord with reliable records. It is not easy here with absolute certainty to state just which Richard rode on horseback from Tenn. at close of civil war, rode to Ga. One of best informed on this branch says that one Richard attended Princeton, New Jersey University. It seems certain that a Richard rode horse back from Tenn. to Georgia, continued to live there and that parts of some families had already moved to Georgia before close of the war. The marriage of this Richard, born 1788 is not given in official family records of Tenn., but persons well informed on the family of Georgia, state he married Susan Wantland, of Baltimore (NOT BLANTON as some gave), married in Maryland, and reliable information states they settled, and continue to live in Sullivan County, Tenn.: no information, otherwise, to confirm, or contradict this. All reliable information on others of this branch of Sullivan Co. have been typed and reference made to them, as Abraham L. Gammon, many others. The History now continues on children, other descendants of this Richard and wife, Wantland.

Susan Wantland, wife of Richard Gammon, he born 1788, was reared, and married in Baltimore, Md. She died in 1872, age 105 years; he died 1837: these names, dates of Richard and wife, not given in Official Records of the family, but by reliable close relatives: Here facts, so far as known, will follow on among, or likely oldest of children of Richard of 1788 and wife Susan (Wantland) Gammon: Much of following information has been given by intelligent very well informed members of this part of the family:

3—1 William Gamble Gammon Senior, his name given as one of eight children of Richard and Susan, born Wytheville, Va. (another says born Jonesboro, Tenn.): that he died in Rome, Ga. January, 1895; he married Julia Adelaide Aiken, a daughter of John A. Aiken and wife Jackson: a son of Wm. G. Sr. says his father was a banker, owned a large business for that day (it likely in Tenn.), and was an officer in the East Tenn. Railroad, old letters show he had a pass to leave Tenn.: one of his sons says Wm. G. had four sisters, as follows, Eliza married Richard Cunningham, Susan married Abraham Hamilton, Sarah married Abraham (Looney) Gammon, and Rachel married Dr. Young: almost nothing more is known of families of these sisters of Wm. G. Sr.:

This son, Wm. M. Gammon, Sr. says his father, Wm. G. Sr., had five sons, 4—1, Wm. M. Sr., himself, 4—2 John Aiken of whom facts soon follow: 4—3 Edward killed in battle at Shiloh: 4—4 Charles Aiken, Sr., married Laura Stillwell, moved to Anniston, Ala., his son, Charles Jr. lived in Florida, had a son Charles; Charles Sr. had daughter Adelaide, a son William G. Jr., died in infancy, Adelaide, daughter of Chas. Sr. rather Julia Adelaide, married Mr. Simpson, lives in New York: 4—5 Alfred E, not living in 1912, said to have fallen from a horse, killed in Tenn., single: 4—2 John Aiken Gammon, born June 26, 1844 in Jonesboro, Tenn., died Rome, Ga., 1906, Sept., married Rosalind Burns June 14, 1873, she born Aug. 1853 near Houston, Texas, died Oct. 1905 in Rome. She made an appeal to the Governor of Ga. to prohibit foot ball, because some killed in the game: children follow, of John A. and wife above:

5—1 Montague Gammon, born June 16, 1874 near Rome, Ga., married January 10, 1900 to Nell Wyly, born April 2, 1872 at Atlanta, Ga.: their children are, Madaline born Rome, December 20, 1900: Rosalind, born Rome, May 17, 1902: William Von Albade, born N. Y. City July 12, 1903: Montague, Jr. born New York City November 12, 1908: Algernon, born Long Island, N. Y., died as infant.

William Mitchel born Lynbrook, Long Island, N. Y. June 8, 1912 (Montague Sr., very sick, almost blind by cataracts): (yet he gave most valuable information): Here follows brothers and sisters of Montague:

5—2 Anna Lucile Gammon (all Gammons), born Rome, Ga. Nov. 1876, address then N. Y. City, 601 W. 127th St.: Present Permanent Address 240 Lebanon Ave., Mt. Lebanon, Pittsburgh, 16, Pa.: She has given so very much valuable information on this and other parts of the family, several times:

5—3 VonAlbade Gammon, born Rome, Oct. 1879, died October 31, 1897, killed falling from horse:

5—4 William Gamble Gammon, Jr., born 1882, died Carterville, Ga. Aug. 1900:

5—5 John Aiken Gammon, Jr., born 1884, in Rome, died November 17, 1947: his son, John Aiken III married Elvera Shook, had a son John Robert Gammon, born 1947, January:

5—6 Roslin Latane Gammon, born Rome, Ga. 1886: married 1914 to Luta Bryant of Memphis, Tenn., their address, Pittsburgh, Pa.: the constant repetition of same name for father, son, grand sons, etc., makes exceedingly difficult to know what is really intended: it appears that Roslin Latane Gammon, given as Ros few times, married 2nd Margaret Long, II intended for Second son, or 2nd marriage: a sister of Roslin L. Gammon, says he has three sons, R. L. Jr. in Navy at that time, Robert B. in the army and James in Annapolis: Robert Boyd Gammon was single, born 1919, died August 12, 1944, as Lieut. in military service in France, buried near his home in Wexford, Pa. To this family, especially to this one who gave his life, to aid in preserving for American citizens, what was secured by sacrifice of soldiers under George Washington, who at Valley Forge left blood stains of feet on the snow: This writer is slightly uncertain whether all of above is fully correct, some not fully clear and definite. Address of John Aiken Gammon, brother of Roslin L. is given as 226 N. Fairmont St., East End, Pittsburgh, Pa.: For present addresses of some of these, inquire of some near relatives. Thus far all information on brothers and sisters of Wm. Gamble Gammon have been given, and of George and Looney of his brothers, and all given of these sons of William Gamble Gammon, Sr., Wm. Gamble, Jr., Charles Aiken, Sr., John Aiken, and Edward Aiken Gammon: Children, other descendants of William Melville Gammon, Sr. follow:

4—1 William Melville Gammon, Sr. (son of Wm. Gamble Gammon, Sr.), (there could be very slight error in 4—1 number of Wm. M. above, likely not): Wm. M. Sr. says he was born January 1, 1842 in Jonesboro, Tenn., married January 25, 1872 to Willie Wardlaw Bowie at Charleston, S. Carolina, she born Aiken, S. Carolina (another gives her name as Eliza Wardlaw Bowie): Wm. M. Sr. died, his son Wm. M. Jr. states, March 9, 1916 at Rome, Ga. age 74 years, the last one of his brothers to die: Wm. M. Sr. served as Capt. in the Confederate Army, as did some of his brothers: Wm. M. Sr. says he lived in Washington Co., Tenn. before he moved to Ga.: in Rome, Ga., he was Chairman of Board of Commissioners. Information on other children of father of Wm. M. Sr. has been given rather completely. Some of these early ones made mistakes in giving names (gave Walton instead of WANTLAND): Wm. M. says he had been away from Tenn. 50 years, so said in 1912, January: for wife of Richard Gammon, born 1788. Next children, other descendants, of Wm. M. Gammon Sr.: Wm. M. Sr. says in 1912, says Richard Gammon, my father's brother lived in Polk Co., Ga. and has a son Richard now living at Cedartown, Ga.: now children, etc. of Wm. Melville Gammon, Sr.: 5—1 by his children: and wife: Adelaide Gammon (all Gammons at birth) born April 3, 1873 in Ga., married January 16, 1893 to Harold Dixon Cothran; no address given:

5—2 Langdon Bowie, born __, not living, married June 9, 1879 to Edith Smith, she living, no address:

5—3 Rosa Gammon, married Egbert Haywood Osborn April 25, states her daughter married M. A. N. Patton, Jr. and he has son M. A. N. Patton, III: all given:

5—4 Eliza Wardlaw Gammon, single, no more:

5—5 Isabel Martin Gammon single, address 104 East Sixth Ave., Rome, Ga. She has given often very valuable information for this History, long ago and lately.

5—6 William Melville Gammon, Jr. born April 11, 1881, married Rome, Ga. June 7, 1905 to Elizabeth Arline Simpson, she born April 17, 1881 at Gadsden, Alabama. William M. Jr. gave much of this information and much on other parts of the family, also regarding his father, Wm. Melville, Sr. He wrote could get a Family Tree by writing to Department of Heraldry. Try it and see, what it cost you, if you can get one at all. Wm. M. Jr. letterheads have "W. M. Gammon & Sons, Clothiers, Hatters and Furnishers, Rome, Ga." Wm. M. Jr. says he was named for his father and youngest son of the family. He very kindly gave information.

The History of this part of Sullivan Co., Tenn. now advances to another son of Richard, born 1788, and wife Susan Wantland, namely, 3—2 Richard III so designated by best informed of this branch: Two letters from wife of this Richard III are before me, with these facts, he is given as brother of William Gamble Gammon Sr. by best informed, his wife's letters say he was born November 4, 1825 in Sullivan County, Tenn. where his parents, Richard and Susan Wantland, had settled: she was born, reared, married in Baltimore, Md. Letters say Richard and Susan continued to live in Sullivan Co., Tenn.: Susan died in Sullivan Co., Tenn., age 105 years, Richard also died there: Richard III as a young man came from East Tenn. where he was in business, to Floyd Co., Ga., as other reliable relatives state, there met and later married Mary Arabella Whatley May 26, 1868: she says she is a grand daughter of Ex Governor Wilson Lumpkin of Ga., named for his daughter: other information she gave fully agrees with reliable relatives: Richard, her husband had been dead about 15 years, as others also state: she says that she, Richard, his wife, his four sons and two girls, lived then on farm, where she was born, Richard, her only son, Mary A., wife of Richard, says she was born January 19, 1844, married to Richard as given 4—3 Richard Gammon, son of Richard and Mary A., she says born June 1, 1873 in Floyd Co., Ga., died in Summerville, S. Carolina October 3, 1926 where he had lived only 10 months (1936 also given as death date), previously lived in Cedartown, Ga.: as given by other reliable relatives: Her son, Richard, born 1873, married December 24, 1901 at Ligon, Ga. to Mary Jane Henderson, she born Bartow Co., Ga., January 29, 1877, as other relatives give: she yet lives, 1901: died 1960: their children, other descendants, here as given by Richard Gammon:

We arrive at August, in preparation of material for the Printers on this last part of Sullivan County, Tenn. branch of the family. We cannot wait to type for some large quantities of material which came for this part of the family, quite late, we will give space to all that is possible.

But The Plan, the Agreement from the First was for a Book of Certain Price, and certain Pages; we will, must hold to that Agreement, and all who ordered the History were informed several times of this agreement by Printed letters.

For information to some who may not know fully the circumstances of the earliest members of this Part of Sullivan County branch, this in[illegible]mation is given that at close of civil war, the strife, the ill feeling was so intense, so dangerous, that several families of Tenn., for safety to lives, moved to Georgia, and elsewhere. It is for these families that what follows relates, and gives information, as it has for other parts of this branch, and of other branches of the Family. And as previously given, what is here given, will follow the Original well typed old Family records which have been followed in previous parts of this branch of the family. Those records, beginning with Richard 1st, Original of this Branch of the family, have been found fully reliable, and we have nothing to take their place, except information from families of much later dates, most of which seems reliable. And we cannot include very large amounts of information which came very late, as that would show partiality to some families over others, which cannot be permitted. So now so far as reliable information is at hand, and can be understood, what is written clearly, will be included here on this part of the Sullivan County branch. It will follow, and connected with descendants of George Gammon, First child of Original Richard of all of this branch. Keep in mind in proper place, the several Richard Gammons of early part of this Branch.

2—2 Richard Gammon, born September 28, 1788, as given by Regular Family records, is in accord with System of numbering each generation properly. In those old records are several Richard Gammons, but all others previously used properly, reliably, are accounted for: so this Richard is the proper one for this place.

Now in this, as in all other branches of families, there appear errors, mistakes, which need not be severely condemned, as those who made mistakes did the best they could. In early days, with wars, movings, homes burned, scarcity of reliable information, it was very difficult to secure, and preserve exactly correct records. Here is one as a sample, made by one who otherwise gave valuable information: he states that one of this branch of Sullivan Co., Tenn. founded the school at Atlanta, Ga. for education of colored ministers. That is entirely wrong, see the definite clear statement in New England branch of one, a Methodist minister who came from Maine (Mass.) to Ill. and found this school in Atlanta, Ga. Where errors are found, they will be corrected so far as possible. Now the History continues:

2—2 Richard Gammon, born 1788, in Sullivan Co., Tenn. most likely where other children were born, he a son of First Richard: he died September 13, 1851, age 97 years, as given by near relatives. He is the only

Richard who can be reliably given in this place, as Richard 3—3 and others have been truthfully given and accounted for in previous typing. Richard born 1805 married Mary Chester is properly placed in accord with reliable records. It is not easy here with absolute certainty to state just which Richard rode on horseback from Tenn. at close of civil war, rode to Ga. One of best informed on this branch says that one Richard attended Princeton, New Jersey University. It seems certain that a Richard rode horse back from Tenn. to Georgia, continued to live there and that parts of some families had already moved to Georgia before close of the war. The marriage of this Richard, born 1788 is not given in official family records of Tenn., but persons well informed of the family of Georgia, state he married Susan Wantland, of Baltimore (NOT BLANTON as some gave), married in Maryland, and reliable information states they settled, and continue to live in Sullivan County, Tenn.: no information, otherwise, to confirm, or contradict this. All reliable information on others of this branch of Sullivan Co. have been typed and reference made to them, as Abraham L. Gammon, many others. The History now continues on children, other descendants of this Richard and wife, Wantland.

Facts gathered on Noah Gammon, given by Rev. Robt. W. Gammon, son of Noah, from the family Bible:

The History arrives at the last child of Richard Gammon and wife Susan Wantland. As dates of births, marriages of some are not given, it is rather uncertain as to what prefix number to give to this seeming last child of Richard and Susan:

3—5 Noah Gammon (uncertain as to proper number before his name). He born near Bristol, Tenn., February 7, 1809, died October 8, 1878. Died at or near California, Mo., as near relatives state he was buried quite near there in cemetery just north east of city, which cemetery yet exists. I have stood in that cemetery where near relatives of Noah are buried, one near relative says Noah served as Judge for number of years, most likely meant Justice of Peace as his son gives. His son, Rev. Robert says Noah left Tenn. due to slavery and his beliefs regarding it, and moved to Moniteau County, quite near California, Mo. and only three union men there, two had been killed. Anyone familiar with Civil War days know well of the bitter attitudes, actions, crimes, etc., stealing, fighting, murder, etc. Facts on Noah's marriages are given from reliable records as follows: first to Eleanor James, married January 3, 1828, she born Blountville, Tenn., March 12, 1807. Eleanor died May 26, 1852 at California, Mo. Marriage most likely in Mo. at California. (one relative says married in Jefferson City, Mo.) Rev. Robt. says Noah was not member of a church. Noah married 2nd, a Mrs. Sharp, whose maiden name was Adaline Bach Buchanan, but had married Mr. Sharp. Adaline born in Ohio, Gallipolis, she died California, age 53 yrs.

Rev. Robt. W. Gammon, son of Noah, and Susan Gammon, later wife of John C. Moss, she of California, Mo., gave so much of this interesting and valuable information on Noah and his family. Their letters are right here before me now:

SECTION III.

Ancestry of Mary C. and Matilda De Vault

Valentine De Vault and wife Susan Range; Peter Range and wife Elizabeth Ronimus (Hieronymus); Noah Range (Ranger—Reanger) and wife Elizabeth Coons (Kones—Coens); Nicholas Kones (Coens) and wife Catharine.

Henry De Vault (Dewalt—Dewald) and wife Catharine M. Greaver; Ancestry of Henry De Vault (Dewalt—Dewald).

VALENTINE DE VAULT, father of Mary De Vault (Reeves) and Matilda De Vault (Reeves), was born in 1776 near McAllestertown (later Hanover), York County, Pennsylvania. His youth was spent in York County. About the year 1800 Valentine and his brother Frederick went to Washington County, Tennessee where they settled on a plantation of 637 acres lying on both sides of the "Wataugah" river at what was thereafter known as De Vault's ford; which plantation had been purchased by their father, Henry De Vault, from John "Been" (Bean), to whom it had been granted by the State of North Carolina in 1784 at the price of fifty shillings per hundred acres (Quoted words as in the grant). Title ultimately passed to the brothers under the will of their father probated in York County in 1817. There the brothers who married sisters, Valentine about 1802, Frederick in 1803, constructed a wooden house that became their common home. This house stood on a knoll near the north entrance to the ford. Nearby they constructed a large barn with stone basement, the largest in that part of the state. In 1825 they added to the plantation 385 acres lying to the north on what is now the Washington-Sullivan County line, purchased from Henry Massengill; and in 1829 they were granted by the State of Tennessee an additional 60 acres on the Washington County side that included part of the "Big Island" in the Watauga River.

The brothers had in the meantime purchased in 1819 from Thomas Brabson another tract of 427 acres lying in the western part of Washington County, including the then recently laid out town of Leesburg; and thither Frederick removed about that time. In 1831 the brothers divided their holdings; Valentine taking the Watauga River plantation which continued to be his home during the remainder of his life; and Frederick taking the Leesburg plantation which was likewise his home during the remainder of his life, where he and his wife lie buried, and where his house and outbuildings still stand.

Just north of the old dwelling house on his own plantation Valentine began about 1841 the construction of a commodious brick residence which he occupied in 1842 but which was not entirely completed until after his death in that year. The old dwelling house was removed, but a covered porch with handsome pillars was transported therefrom to and built into the southerly side of the new residence, where it still stands. Earlier there had been constructed near the site of the dwellings a springhouse, and a smokehouse built of logs taken from the old Bean house. Both still stand, the logs of the smokehouse showing the mortises of the original construction. The barn has been removed in recent years.

Valentine De Vault (nicknamed "Felty") was above medium height, with brown hair and blue eyes, clean shaven, and rather portly in middle life. He spoke and read German as well as English, and took a German language newspaper. In politics he was a Democrat. He was a member of the Lutheran Church. His Bible, printed in German in 1798, is now in the possession of his great-grandson William Weldon De Vault (Second). He acquired other lands besides those mentioned above, and was probably the largest farmer and slave owner of his time in Washington County. His home was one of affluence and hospitality. An old gentleman, Dr. Link, still living in the west when this note was made about 1897, wrote interestingly of well-remembered entertainments given at the De Vault home when he was a boy; and of some very fine pears with which Mr. De Vault on one occasion loaded his arms, and then stood shaking with laughter at the boy's efforts to carry them all away.

Reverend James Miller, D. D., born in Maine, son-in-law of Valentine De Vault, was a pioneer minister of the Christian Church at Johnson City. His last home was a frame building that lately stood on the southerly side of East Market Street just west of what is now a private alley and in the rear of what was formerly known as the Eagle Building. On one occasion, riding on horseback on the old Knob creek road, he came to a place now in the western part of Johnson City where the road crossed a branch. There a teamster had stopped to water his horses. The Reverend Miller attempted to cross below the team, but his horse wanted to stop. It was urged forward by repeated cluckings at which the team started also. "Whoa!" cried the teamster. Miller's horse stopped but was started by more cluckings, at which the team again started. "Whoa!" again cried the teamster; then to Miller: "You come back here and I'll give you a threshing!" "'Taint my notion," solemnly replied M and husbands; and cluck," and he was on his way.

The plantation bottom land was lush and prod the river from the ford was the fish-trap from whi freshet would be gathered a wagon load of fish. C fish-trap was usually watched through the night by M big mouth and strong teeth, whose duty it was to seize and throw out on the bank the fish that came into the trap. When an eel came in, lest it wriggle away, before throwing it out Manuel would crush its head with his strong teeth. One morning there was found in the catch of the previous night a water-moccasin that Manuel had in the darkness taken for an eel and had dispatched accordingly.

Among the slaves was also Becky, who is said to have been purchased originally by Peter Range, father of Mrs. Valentine De Vault. As the story goes, a slave-driver was passing the Range place with a bunch of Negroes when Becky, then a young woman, broke away, ran to Mr. Range, knelt, and begged him to buy her, which he did. Becky had blue eyes, unusual for a Negro. She boasted that she was a "Guinea nigger," and would have little to do with the other Negroes on the plantation, she usually working about the kitchen. After the slaves were freed she would visit about among the homes of the children of Mr. and Mrs. De Vault. It is said that at such times she would install herself in the kitchen and shut everyone else out, which caused no complaint as her crotchety ways were understood and she was an excellent cook. She had a husband in her youth, and a child that was killed by a bull.

She visited my father's home when I was a boy. She was then wizened and quite old. Arc lights on poles had just been installed in Johnson City. As daylight faded "Aunt" Becky stood with me in the door and watched the lights flash on. "Tell me," she said, "How does they get up there to light 'em?" I tried to explain how the wires carried the electricity. She listened attentively until I had finished, and then said: "I jus' don't understand how they light 'em." On this occasion she told with satisfaction how her master had taken his gun and killed the bull that had gored her child. Her age was not known by the then older generation, but she was thought to be over a hundred when she died. She was buried at the old home where she had lived so long, in a plot set aside for the Negro retainers, adjoining the De Vault cemetery.

Valentine De Vault died at his home on August 10, 1842, two days before the death of his wife. He left no will. On September 13 following, mainder of his life, w ands of his daughters, and his brother Frederick as and outbuildings still . Jr. not yet of age, entered into an agreement for Just north of the o cluding lands, slaves, funds and other personalty. b n about 1841 the co aving already received advancements; under the h cupied in 1842 b ent adjustments James Miller and wife, and John, death in that year. acts in Washington County and Sullivan County on [illegible] hen living, Isaac took the Massengill tract on which he subsequently erected his home, Jacob the Big Island, and the acreage west of the river on which he erected his home, and Valentine, Jr. the remainder including the previously erected buildings. The old residence is now the home of the widow and some of the children of William Weldon, son of Valentine De Vault, Jr.

No actual signature of Valentine De Vault has been found. In the record copy of the grant of 1829 the surname is spelled "Devalt"; in the deed of 1825, "Devauld"; in the conveyances of 1819 and 1831 and the agreement of 1842, "Davault"; in a quitclaim deed of 1841 to Valentine, "Devault"; and in a Washington County deed of 1817 to Jacob, a deed of 1828 from Jacob to Valentine, and a Sullivan County deed of 1820 from Henry to Gabriel (all brothers), "Devalt." The deed of 1820 was wit ed by Daniel Devalt son of Henry, and Samuel Devalt son of Gabriel. The surnames on the tombstones of Valentine and wife were already illegible when the stone of Valentine crumbled in the winter of 1946, but the stones of his children show the name "De Vault." In the record copy of the will of Frederick and on his tombstone the name is "Davault," but on the stones of his wife, his son John (1819-1897), and Frederick R. (1855-1945) son of John, it is "De Vault."

In the census of 1830, we find in Sullivan County, Gabriel Devault; and in Washington County, Valentine Davault, Frederick Devault and Jacob Dewalt (last arrival); all brothers. In the census of 1850, of the sons of Valentine the surnames of Isaac, Jacob and Valentine, Jr. (then one family) are spelled "Davault," and that of John (Sullivan County), "Dauvalt"; and those of his brothers, Gabriel "Davault" and Jacob "Davalt (Sullivan County). Carelessness by both principals and census takers in the spelling of the surname is indicated. In two instances among the ilies of the last, the surnames of husband and wife, reported together, are spelled differently. The origin and variations of the surname will be discussed under Ancestry of Henry De Vault, to follow.

Valentine De Vault was buried on the plantation, near his residence, in what was thereafter the family cemetery. There lie his wife, all his children (except Mary and Matilda) and their wives and husbands; and others listed below.

The children:

Elizabeth,	b. 1805,	d. 1877.	m. Rev. James Miller, D. D.	(1798-1874).
Mary Catharine,	" 1808,	" 1894.	" William P. Reeves	(1803-1885).
John,	" 1809,	" 1851.	" Elizabeth Kitzmiller	(1810-1890).
Isaac,	" 1811,	" 1903.	" Elizabeth Hannah	(1827-1870).
Matilda,	" 1814,	" 1896.	" Peter M. Reeves	(1807-1891).
Jacob,	" 1817,	" 1878.	" Elizabeth Clark	(1826-1879).
Valentine,	" 1822,	" 1906.	" Edna Hannah	(1830-1918).

In the De Vault cemetery are also buried: Elizabeth Stover Hannah (1808-1904) mother, and Nancy Hannah Stuart (1841-1891) sister of Elizabeth and Edna Hannah De Vault; Osborne S. (1830-1845), James V., and a third son of Rev. James Miller; Rufus I. (1868-1892) son of Isaac De Vault; William V. (1846-1916) son of Jacob De Vault, and first wife Elizabeth McAfee (1858-1880); John C. (1858-1863) and William Weldon (1865-1910) sons of Valentine De Vault, Jr.; Adelaide (1832-1833) daughter of William P. Reeves; Willie R. (1887-1888) son of William V. De Vault and second wife Barbara Higginbotham; Bynum (1879-1904) son of Valentine De Vault, 3d. (of John); and, supposedly, William C. (1837) infant son of Peter M. Reeves.

SUSAN RANGE (De VAULT) was born in 1779 at the home of her father, Peter Range, in Washington County, Tennessee. She was an elder sister of Margaret who married Frederick De Vault. Little is known of her childhood except what may be assumed from the standing of her father. About 1802 she was married at her father's home to Valentine De Vault, and was thereafter his loyal helpmeet. She died at her home on August 12, 1842, two days after the death of her husband, both being victims of typhoid fever. She was buried beside her husband.

PETER RANGE, father of Susan Range (De Vault), was born March 26, 1749 in Somerset County, New Jersey, and came in his youth as a member of his father's family to York County, Pennsylvania. He seems to have resided for a time in Berkeley County, Virginia (now West .) where he married and where probably his first known child was born. He subsequently came with his family down the Valley of Virginia and to what is now Washington County, Tennessee, where the remainder of his life was spent. He is supposed to have arrived by 1779 as his brother James was at that time in what is now Carter County. Our first definite knowledge of him in Washington County begins with his acquirement there of land, of which there were seven tracts, grouped for convenience as follows:

a.	Feb. 12, 1790,	from	Pharoh Cobb,	300	acres	on	Knob Creek;
	Nov. 2, 1804,	"	John Engle,	150	"	"	" " .
b.	Aug. 21, 1797,	"	Solomon Hedrix,	50	"	"	Boone's Creek;
	" " "	"	" "	3½	"	"	" " .
c.	Feb. 14, 1791,	"	Abraham Cox,	250	"	"	Sinking Creek.
d.	Nov. 3, 1804.	"	John Hammer,	4	"	"	Knob Creek;
	May 2, 1808,	"	Samuel Denton,	250	"	"	" " .

Of group "a" which lay on lower Knob creek, the larger piece was the st known Range home. There Peter Range erected a two-story log house which was occupied until after his purchase in 1804 and 1808 of the two tracts, group "d," after which both tracts of group "a" were sold. Susan Range was married in this house. It was removed about forty years ago, but a small picture of it taken by William Weldon De Vault is preserved by his children.

On the property group "d," further up Knob creek, Peter Range built a grist-mill, and a short distance below it on the creek a large two-story and basement stone house which was his final home. The plantation passed under his will to his son Jacob. The house still stands, but the mill which was operated until a few years ago has been replaced by a meat-packing plant. The general site is now in the extreme north-north-east suburb of Johnson City.

On the Boone's creek property marked "b," at what is now Flourville, Peter Range and his son-in-law Garner built a grist-mill, subsequently nown as the McAfee mill, which still stands. This property passed by conveyances of 1800 and 1810 to John McAfee; and about the last date Garner removed with his family to Mississippi. The Sinking creek property marked "c" may have passed to Peter's son Peter, who purchased in 1821 from Thomas Whitson a second tract of about 275 acres on Sinking creek; as in later years James and William Range, sons of Peter, Jr., resided on farms in that neighborhood.

Peter Range was a large, light-haired man. He was a prosperous farmer and mill operator, and a substantial citizen. He died at his home October 10, 1817 and was buried on his plantation in what was thereafter the family cemetery. His will, executed in August, 1817, was agreed to in writing on December 2 by his wife and all the children except Louisa (in Mississippi); the signatures of Barbara, Sarah and Rachel showing that they were then unmarried. It was probated in January, 1818.

I visited the cemetery in 1913. It was in a meadow, on a knoll above a ledge of rocks, about 150 yards south-east from the house, inclosed by a dilapidated fence, and considerably grown up in saplings and thorn-bushes. The older part of the cemetery consisted of three rows of graves, twenty-five in all, mostly marked by unlettered limestone headstones. The grave of Peter Range was fourth from the south in the second row; that of his wife to his left. In the third or easterly row, in order, beginning at the south, were the marble tombstones of Louisa G. Range (1823-1884), Jacob Range (1790-1876) and Susan Range (1795-1870), parents and daughter; and beyond them three graves understood to be those of triplet children of Jacob and Susan Range.

I visited the place again in 1947. The cemetery fence was gone, the cemetery grown up and trampled by cattle, the marble tombstones broken in pieces and scattered. There among the forgotten graves of his contemporaries and the fragments of the monuments of his descendants the small, dark headstone of Peter Range still stood bravely, as it had stood for more than a hundred years; where one might kneel and with difficulty decipher the crude lettering:

P. Range

In memory.

Of the children, listed next below, the dates of birth given as to five are known; the date of birth of Peter having been calculated from the census of 1850. As indicated, the dates of birth of the remaining five are approximated.

The children:

Elizabeth,	b. 1777,	d. 1843.	m. Jacob Miller.
Susan,	" 1779,	" 1842.	" Valentine De Vault.
John,	" 1781 (?),	" ——.	" Abagail Garner.

Louisa,	" 1783 (?),	" ——.	" ———— Garner (To Miss.).
Margaret,	" 1785,	" 1865.	" Frederick De Vault.
Barbara,	" 1787,	" 1847.	" John Wright.
Jacob,	" 1790,	" 1876.	" Susan Hale.
Peter,	" 1793,	" 1859.	" Matilda Hale.
Isaac,	" 1795 (?),	" ——.	" Elizabeth Humphreys.
Sarah,	" 1797 (?),	" ——.	" Henry Worley.
Rachel,	" 1799 (?),	" ——.	" John Worley (To Savannah, Ga.).

The husband of Louisa, last above, may have been Brise M. Garner who witnessed the John Engle deed of 1804, above.

ELIZABETH RONIMUS (RANGE) was born about 1755 and was, at least on the paternal side, of German parentage. She was married to Peter Range about 1775, apparently in Berkeley County, Virginia (now West Va.), as Peter seems to have resided there at that time; and went with him to Washington County, Tennessee, probably after the birth of their first child. While tradition gives the name as Ronimus it was no doubt originally Hieronymus. The name Ronimus has not been found in the lists of German immigrants who landed at Philadelphia; but Pieter Hieronimus (so listed) arrived in 1756 on the ship Harle; and Johannes Balthus Hieronymus and Johannes Frantz Hieronymus arrived in 1747 on the ship Two Brothers (Pa. Archives, Series 2, Vol. 17). Mrs. Emma Rankin King, granddaughter of Jacob Range, stated many years ago that the maiden name of the mother of Elizabeth was Townsend, which indicates an English family.

According to Mrs. Mary C. De Vault, second wife and widow of John son of Frederick, Elizabeth read German, and was of fine mind and industrious. Mrs. Samual H. Miller, daughter of Jacob Range, stated that for several years before her death Elizabeth was lame from white swelling and walked with a cane. She died about 1832 and was buried to the left of her husband, but whether in the first or second grave from that of her husband is not known. The headstone of the first grave has no inscription. That of the second grave, when I examined it in 1913, showed faint signs of an inscription seeming to read, "E. Range, D Aug. 18....."; but all was uncertain.

NOAH RANGE (RANGER—REANGER), father of Peter Range, was born October 1, 1713. His wife Elizabeth Coons (Kones—Coens) was born March 17, 1715. So said Jeremiah B. Range (1837-1911) grandson of James and great-grandson of Noah, who gave the surnames as Range and Coons. As will be seen hereinafter, our first definite knowledge of Noah and wife is in Somerset County, New Jersey, where their children were born; and where lived also Coons, Kones and Coens families, and the Bogart (Bogaert—Bogaerdt) family with which the Range family intermarried.

John and Noah Range, probably brothers, seem to have reached America at or about the same time and to have settled first in Somerset County. Noah and wife were there at the birth of their first child in 1741. John was baptized there in 1745, and both John and Noah were there about 1761. John apparently moved northward to Essex County, New Jersey, as the will of John Range, mentioning wife Elizabeth and unmarried daughters Elizabeth and Mary, executed in March, 1787, was probated there in July following. Noah and wife and their surviving children and members of the Bogart family moved westward about 1765 to York (later Adams) County, Pennsylvania. Noah died probably not long after reaching York County, as no record of him has been found there. His wife Elizabeth died November 21, 1771, apparently in York County. The children were as follows:

Catharine,	b. Feb'y. 27, 1741,	d. ————.	m. Samuel Bogart
Elizabeth,	" July 29, 1742,	" ————.	" Henry Bogart.
John,	" Jan'y. 27, 1744,	" ————1827.	" Madeline Shollas.
Mary,	" Sept. 15, 1745,	" ————.	" William Owings.
Lea,	" July 8, 1746,	" Sept. 27, 1748.	Child.
Peter,	" March 26, 1749,	" Oct. 10, 1817.	" Elizabeth Ronimus.
Margaret,	" Feb'y. 7, 1751,	" ————.	————.
Eve,	" March 27, 1753,	" Aug. 31, 1753.	Child.
James,	" July 21, 1754,	" July 26, 1825.	" Barbara Hammer.
Hannah,	" Jan'y. 11, 1756,	" Dec. 2, 1771.	Child.

John was a lietenant in Fourth Battalion, York County Militia (Pa. Archives, Series 6, Vol. II), and James was a soldier in Eighth (Muhlenberg's) Virginia Regiment (Pension record), both in the Revolutionary Army. No revolutionary record has been found as to Peter, but he was probably a member of Muhlenberg's regiment, no muster roll of which has been found. Jeremiah B. Range quoted his father Jonathan to the effect that three sons of Noah went into the Army in 1776.

marriages of the names Coon and Coens, and Bogart, Bogaert and Bogaerdt of the corresponding and earlier periods, running through the eight volumes of the Quarterly. In this same Quarterly (Vol. IV) appears an account of the settlement in 1765 et seq. of Conewago colony in York County, Pennsylvania, by immigrants who went over the York road; including Dutch and German families from Somerset County, New Jersey.

The awkward and varied spelling of the parental names appearing in the baptismal records, above, indicates that in recording them the Dutch scribes were grappling with names rendered in German. As above mentioned, Jonathan Range stated that Noah Range and wife were from Germany; and in 1908 Mrs. Mary C. De Vault, widow of John, quoted her then deceased husband to the effect that the parents of Peter Range came from Germany. The tradition of some John Range descendants is that his family was from Germany. One author, Virkus, states that the parents of Lt. John Range, and his father-in-law Theobalt Shollas came from France. However, the church record above would seem conclusive as to the birthplace of John; and the name Theobalt Shollas would seem to be German. In the wills of Shollas and his wife, both executed in 1788, the names of the son-in-law and his children are spelled Reanger—three times in each; but in his own will executed in 1827 the son-in-law signs his name John H. Range, Sr.

The census of 1800 for Mt. Pleasant Township (then of Adams Co.) shows John Range. York County tax lists show John Ranger in 1779 and 1782, and John Range in 1780, 1781 and 1783 (Pa. Archives, Series 3, Vol. XXI). As has been noted above, the name was sometimes spelled Ranger in Somerset County. Another author, Rietstap, records that a Range family was ennobled in Saxony in 1716, and describes its arms. There was much phonetic spelling and other inaccuracy in recording the names of early German arrivals at Philadelphia. While the name Range has not been found among these, Hans Rinch arrived in 1727, Hans Martin Ranger in 1732, Conrath Rann in 1737, and John Jacob Rhan, Vallentin Schallus and Bastian Shaller in 1749 (Rupp).

From the foregoing I reach the conclusion that the Range (Ranger—Reanger) family was from Germany and of French Huguenot extraction, the name having been originally Reanger. This name with its basic French pronunciation would readily lead to the spelling, Range, adopted about the time of the removal of the brothers John and Noah from Somerset County. The names Coons (Kones—Coens) and Bogart (Bogaert—Bogaerdt) were no doubt originally Dutch (See Nicholas Kones).

Catharine and Elizabeth apparently married in Somerset County before their migration. John married in York County and lived there (and in Adams County cut off from York) until about 1803 when he removed to Venango County, Pennsylvania. Conveyances of record in York and Adams counties show that Mary was a spinster in January, 1768 and was living with her husband in York County in April, 1771, and indicate that they subsequently removed to Fairfield County, Ohio. Margaret probably married and lived in York County. Peter and James Range, and Samuel and Henry Bogart and their wives went to nearby Berkeley County, Virginia (now West Va.), where Peter Range seems to have married. All these subsequently moved about 1779 down the Valley of Virginia and to what is now upper East Tennessee. Henry Bogart and family settled near what was later Strawberry Plains, Peter Range and family in what is now Washington County, the others in what is now Carter County, where James Range married in 1787.

Except that he gave Lea's birth month as January and Hannah's birth year as 1757, the foregoing list of the children is as furnished from family records by Jeremiah B. Range who further quoted his father to the effect that Noah Range and wife came from Germany. The mentioned list is substantiated by baptismal records of the old Reformed Dutch Church at Raritan, Somerset County, New Jersey, as follows:

Of these baptisms the first nine correspond to the births listed above, except as to Eve who lived but five months. Jacobes is Dutch for James. The last baptism is apparently that of John, supposed brother of Noah. These records have been published in the Somerset County Historical Society Quarterly (Vols. II, III); which also sets out entries from old records indicating that Noah Ranger sold land in Somerset County in 1761 (Vol. IV); and that John and Noah Ranger lived at Badminster, Somerset County about 1760 (Vols. VI, VII); and numerous records of births and

For the early adduction of the Jeremiah B. Range data, above, and subsequent investigation of the Noah Range history much credit is due to Mrs. M. J. Jones, now deceased, and her daughter Nancy, Mrs. Robert H. Stickley, descendants of Noah Range through both Peter Range and his sister Catharine Range Bogart.

NICHOLAS KONES (COENS) of Somerset County, New Jersey was the father of Elizabeth Coons—Kones—Coens (Range). He was born about 1680, probably in Germany, and immigrated to Somerset County. The will of Nicholas Kones of "the Mountains," Somerset County, was executed May 29, 1746 and was proved in Somerset County on October 15 of the same year (N. J. Archives, Series 1, Vol. 30, p. 285). Its recitals leave little doubt of the indicated family connection. It lists wife Catharine, and children Jacob, Michael, Adam, Barbara Menton, Margaret Harsough, Elizabeth Ranger and Mary Harpending.

In addition to the Range baptisms (See Noah Range), the following Dutch Church baptisms at Raritan are published in the mentioned volumes II and III of the Quarterly:

Hertoog, Piter and Anna Margarita—Piter,	Feb'y.	4,	1733/4.

The husband of Barbara Menton was apparently Andrew Mintong (Anderis Mindang), as Mintong executed in January, 1768, in York County, a conveyance to his "cousin" Mary Range. John Miggel Coens is apparently Michael of the will. The use of the spelling, "Coens," and its accurate rendition by Dutch scribes is significant.

The names Coons and Kones were apparently English and German variants of the Dutch name, Coens. I think that Nicholas was of Dutch extraction; but his use of the German variant suggests German sojourn. The names of his wife and children indicate marriage after leaving Germany. Jonathan Range and John De Vault apparently did not know of the New Jersey sojourn (See Noah Range).

HENRY De VAULT (DEWALT—DEWALD), father of Valentine De Vault, was born in 1733. He was born in the Kingdom of France, married Catharine Maria Greaver, a German woman, and came to America when his first child, Philip, was one year old—so said Mrs. Louisa De Vault Kitzmiller, daughter of Philip De Vault, when questioned in 1875 by Rev. E. O. Guerrant, D. D., who married Mary, daughter of John De Vault son of Frederick, and who made the first known genealogical record of Henry De Vault and his descendants. Accompanied by his wife and child and a brother Philip, Henry came down the Rhine on a river boat and sailed from Rotterdam. Mrs. Kitzmiller spoke interestingly of the river trip and how duties were exacted by various towns passed on the river. This sketch will proceed from that point, leaving for a later sketch the discussion of origin and variations in name appearing herein.

Henry and family sailed from Rotterdam on the English ship, Chance, and arrived in Philadelphia on or about September 23, 1766, the entire trip having taken six months. He qualified in Philadelphia on that date, signing his name "Henrich Dewalt." He settled near McAllestertown (now Hanover), York County, Pennsylvania, where he became a prosperous farmer. There he acquired land on which he made his home, and there his other children were born. Whether he was originally a Protestant we do not know; but in York County he and all his family seem to have been members of the Lutheran Church.

He entered the Revolutionary army as a member of the York County militia and took part in important battles. He was an ensign in Sixth Battalion under Col. Ross, and was later a lieutenant in Seventh Battalion under Lt. Col. Winterode and Col. Kennedy, as appears from various muster-rolls and a pay-roll of September, 1781 of Capt. Furrey's company. In those records his name, which seems in each instance to have been entered by a clerk, no signature appearing, is given as Henry Dewalt. A York County militia roll of 1785 includes the names Henry Devalt and Philip Dewalt, apparently Henry and brother or son, and John Kitzmiller. (Pa. Archives, Series 6, Vols. II, III).

After the close of the Revolution Henry continued to prosper. He acquired other lands in York County. About the year 1797 he visited Tennessee and purchased land in Sullivan County on which he subsequently settled his sons Gabriel and Henry, and in Washington County where he settled his sons Valentine and Frederick. Two sons-in-law, Nicholas Keefauver and Martin Kitzmiller, went to Tennessee about that time, and later his youngest son, Jacob.

Henry received in July and August, 1809, in Pennsylvania, patents for four tracts of land as follows:

April 30, 1765, 156 acres, 10 perches, warrant to Daniel Utts.
July 19, 1767, 44½ acres, application of Peter Burnett.
Nov. 14, 1768, 34 acres, 81 perches, application of Daniel Utts; (deed from Utts March 20, 1784.
April 27, 1786, 111 acres, 21 perches, grant to Henry Dewalt.

The first three tracts adjoin each other and lie partly in West Manheim Township, York County, and partly in Union Township, Adams County (cut off from York County in 1800). The last tract lies in Manheim Township. All were held by Henry long before the issuance of the patents.

Henry De Vault died in 1817. His will which was executed on March 6 of that year and was probated on May 10 following, is very devout in form and is said to have been the longest will of his period probated in York County. In the body of the will which was written by another in a flourishing hand, and was probably read to but not by him, his name appears as Henry Dewald, the surnames of his sons being similarly spelled therein; but the will is signed Henrich Dewalt. The English and German forms of names were otherwise confused. Catharine Maria was written Mary Catharina; Margaret, Mary Margaret; Catharine, Catharina; Mary, Mary Elizabeth; Julia, Julian; Keefauver, Keefaber; Wortz, Worst; Gabriel Greaver, Gabrial Graver; and Manheim, Manhime.

In this will Henry made most detailed provisions for the care of his wife, Mary Catharina, from the personal estate, the produce of his home plantation, and charges against devised lands; and these devises were carefully equalized by charges against the various tracts. To his son Jacob was given the "dwelling plantation" in Manheim Township, York County; and to the widow Elizabeth and daughter Catharina of his late brother-in-law Gabrial Graver was given the use for life of a second tract lying partly in Manheim and partly in Heidelberg Township (as then bounded), same county, previously tenanted by said Graver. To his sons Gabriel and Henry were given the two tracts of 315 and 105 acres, respectively, in Sullivan County, Tennessee, purchased from "a certain John Bishop"; and to his sons Valentine and Frederick was given the "plantation" of 637 acres in Washington County, purchased from "a certain John Been." Also mentioned and provided for were his remaining sons and his daughters. Henry, who had in the meantime removed from Tennessee to Indiana, subsequently sold his part of the Sulivan County lands to his brother Gabriel; making a return trip to execute the deed.

Henry De Vault was buried in the old St. Matthew's Lutheran churchyard at Hanover, where his wife was subsequently buried. Before her death in 1918 Miss Lucy Forney, a descendant through her mother Mrs. Louisa Wortz Forney, secured the removal of the remains of Henry and wife to Mt. Olivet cemetery in Hanover, where they were reinterred in the Abner W. Forney plot. The original gravestones, which were removed to the new location, stand side by side, the material portions of the inscriptions thereon being respectively as follows:

> "In memory of Henry Dewald who was born April 10, 1733 and departed this life April 16, 1817, aged 84 years and 6 days."
> "Mary Catharine wife of Henry Dewald who was born August 8, 1737, died October 2, A. D. 1830, aged 93 years 1 month and 24 days."

The list of the children, their husbands and wives, appearing next hereinafter, is as given by Dr. Guerrant who seems not to have recorded dates of birth; but the years of birth and death of Henry, Valentine and Frederick are known; the year of birth of Philip is indicated by the statement of Mrs. Kitzmiller; and it appears that Philip died at 79, Margaret at 75, Catharine at 86, Mary in 1856 aged 85, Julia at 75, Jacob at 75, and that Elizabeth and Gabriel were twins and died on the same day, aged 90. The Tennessee census of 1850 shows the ages of Gabriel, Mary and Jacob. The uncertain dates have been calculated accordingly.

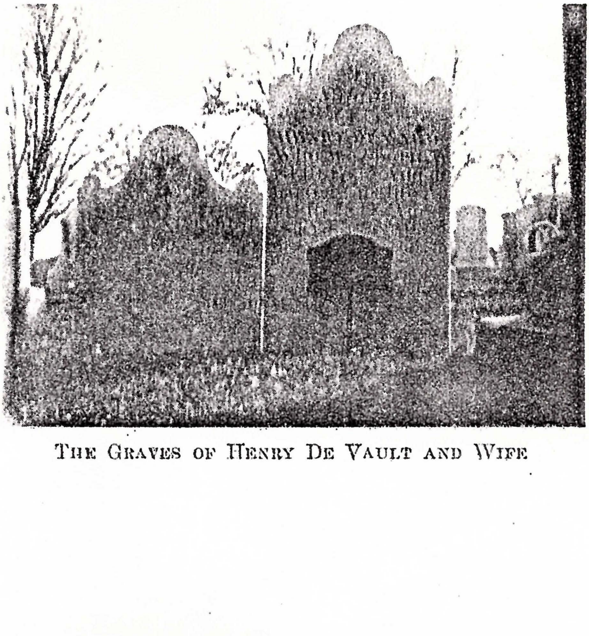
Philip De Vault, brother of Henry the elder, was apparently younger and came to America as a member of Henry's family, as his name does not appear among those who qualified on landing. According to Dr. Guerrant he settled where Cincinnati now stands, and had two children, Catharine and Phillip, who lived in Cincinnati.



THE GRAVES OF HENRY DE VAULT AND WIFE

CATHARINE MARIA GREAVER (De VAULT) was of German parentage, born in 1737, probably in left-bank Palatinate. Nothing more is known of her ancestry; but it appears from her husband's will, and immigrant lists, that a brother Gabriel arrived on the same ship with her and lived and died in York County, Pennsylvania. She was married about 1762 to Henry De Vault and came with him to America. She seems to have had a strong influence on her husband and family personally and religiously, judging from their personal and religious characteristics and the names of the children. It was probably through her influence that her husband and children were Lutherans. She died in 1830 and lies beside her husband.

ANCESTRY OF HENRY De VAULT (DEWALT—DEWALD). Just east of the Rhine in Germany, two hundred years ago, was the Palatinate with its cities Heidelberg and Manheim (now Mannheim). It then extended across the Rhine, but the left bank was lost to France in 1796. Nearby was the French town of Lure, now the capital of a French arrondissement near the Swiss border. Around Lure lay the ancient bailliage of Dole between Saône and le Doux rivers, Lure being on the north side of le Doux river (Atlas de Augondi—M. Robert, 1755). There was born in 1717 François Eugene de Vault, lieutenant general under Louis XV (Dic. de Biog. et Hist.—Dezobry & Bachelet). There flourished in the same century François Joseph de Vault, "Conseiller à la Chambre des Comptes de Dole, gouverneur de Lure," whose arms were emblazoned in chief with "trois bonnets albanais d'or, au soleil du même" (Armorial Général—Rietstap; Supplement—Rolland). There was also a bishop of an earlier period of the name de Vault.

Following the revocation in 1685 of the Edict of Nantes the Huguenots fled from France by thousands. They went to Germany, Holland, England and America. It has been stated that no less than 80 of the Prussian staff and 65,000 soldiers at the siege of Paris bore Huguenot names (Caen France, 1560-72—Lart). Many of the children and grandchildren of those Huguenots were among the thousands of German emigrants who landed at Philadelphia from 1727 forward, including sometimes whole shiploads from the Palatinate. From 1743 to 1766, besides women and children seven male persons of name Dewalt, and others of name Dewald and variations, arrived at Philadelphia. Johannes Gabriel Graber (Greaver) arrived on the same ship with Henry De Vault. Johannes Graber and Johannes Grauer (probably the same person) are listed as arriving in 1749.

Henri de Vault (for that was no doubt his original name) was not a Huguenot emigrant, though he probably had relatives who were. Mrs. Kitzmiller said that he was born in France and married a German woman. Had he been living in Germany at that time she would no doubt have said so, and Dr. Guerrant would have recorded the fact. Furthermore Mrs. Kitzmiller is substantiated. Said Valentine De Vault, Jr.: "Our people came originally from France near the German line, * * * half and half in blood though they spoke the German language" (E. C. Reeves, 1923, in The Dawalt Family in Indiana, ms.—Nora Dawalt Short and Eva Dawalt, Indiana State Library, Indianapolis). Said Frederick R. De Vault in 1936: "I do not think there is any doubt about Henry De Vault being of French descent, nor of his wife * * * being of German blood. * * * He spoke French, German and English" (Davault—Dewalt Genealogy, ms.—Newland Davault, 1937).

Henri was apparently born in Dole, found his wife in nearby west- k Palatinate, and lived with her there among the Germans until he started down the Rhine in the spring of 1766. He accepted the German rendition of his name, became known as Henrich Dewalt, and became German in his associations and habits. He probably followed to America relatives of himself or wife or both. He landed at Philadelphia among German immigrants, signed the name Henrich Dewalt, and lived among the Germans of York County, from the township names Heidelberg and Manheim no doubt largely Palatines.

The Pennsylvania census of 1790 lists heads of families: In south-western York County, Philip, Frederick and Valentine Dewalt, Grosley Devault and Nicholas Keefaver; in Franklin County next west, Gourge and Henry Devault and Peter Devalt; and in Berks County to the near north-east, Henry, John and Michael Dewalt. The census of 1800 lists in York County Philip, Frederick and Valentine Dewalt, Gabriel Graber and Samuel Long; and in the south-east corner of Adams County just cut off from York County, Henry Devalt, Martin Kitzmiller and Jacob Wertz. census of 1810 lists in Manheim Township, south-western York County, Henry and Jacob Devalt and Samual Long.

When the ages of the children of Henry of our sketch, and the last enumerated names are considered it is apparent that there were in 1790 in York and surrounding counties other De Vault—Dewalt families besides that of Henry. Henry apparently settled first in southern York County just west of what became in 1800 the Adams County line; was temporarily farther west in 1790, but returned to his old location before 1800; and before 1810 removed a few miles further east to Manheim Township, York County, where he made his final home.

Having in mind the "v" sound of the German "w," it will be seen that among the Germans the name "de Vault" quickly became spelled "Dewalt," whence it was soon confused with the old, similarly pronounced German name, "Dewald." In Pennsylvania, while usually written Dewalt (or Dewald) by those of German speech, it was sometimes written Devalt in partial reversion to the French form, and sometimes Davalt as a result of a more flat, English pronunciation, "Da" not being a French form. Due to the foreign tongue there was much inaccuracy in listing the names of German immigrants on arrival; and there was among the immigrants a widespread carelessness as to the spelling of their names that lasted well into the pioneer period.

The German form, Dewalt (Dewald), seems to have been retained by Philip who remained for a considerable time in Pennsylvania, and many of his descendants, whence the spelling appearing on the tombstones of his parents. Henry, who remained but briefly in Tennessee and there signed the deed of 1820, Devalt, seems thereafter to have written his name Dawalt, as do many of his descendants. Subject to early variations in spelling, from carelessness, as above, the four sons who went to and remained in Tennessee seem to have reverted to the original French name; the significant feature of those variations being the abandonment of the German "w" for the French "v" (See Valentine De Vault). E. C. Reeves, who had spent a long life among the descendants of these, had never seen the name spelled Dawalt until 1923 (The Dawalt Family, above). These descendants write the name with English capitalization, De Vault; except that some Frederick De Vault descendants use the further variant, Davault.

The procession of names used by or applied to Henry De Vault from the cradle to the grave is somewhat confusing. As it is considered impracticable to use all, the form used in the title to this sketch has been adopted as preserving substantially his original name, that of his military service, and that on his tombstone; besides conforming to the English rendition of his original name now in use by many descendants.

SECTION IV.

Ancestry of Rev. William Robeson

Rev. Alexander C. Robeson and wife Catharine Lynch; William (?) beson and wife ——— Colwell (?).

REVEREND ALEXANDER COLWELL ROBESON, father of Rev. William Robeson, was born November 6, 1785 in Greenbrier (later Monroe) County, Virginia (now West Va.). In early manhood he was active in the militia, and was captain of a light-horse company in the War of 1812. He married about 1812. Having previously entered 500 acres of land in what became later McMinn County, Tennessee, about four miles south-west of the present town of Athens, he removed thither about 1815 with his wife and first child, and a nephew, Elihu, son of his brother John, whose mother had died. There on a knoll not far from a spring he erected his dwelling, and nearby a tannery that was operated along with the farm. There his other children were born, and there was his home for the remainder of his life. This land originally belonged to the Cherokee Indians, and a tribe of those Indians lived within a few miles of the Robeson home and frequently visited there.

In his prime the Rev. Robeson was 5 feet 10 inches tall, compactly built, with dark curly hair and blue eyes. He went clean shaven. He was of good intellectual capacity, had a fair education, kept a considerable library, read and studied a great deal and was well informed. In politics he was a Whig. He was one of the commissioners who laid out the town of Athens. In middle life he was active in the establishment of Cedar Springs Methodist camp ground near his home; and at the first meeting held there he joined the Methodist Church, in which he subsequently became a local preacher. He was for many years a justice of the peace. It has been said of him that he caused more cases to be compromised than he tried (Prof. R. M. Burke in Historical Number of the Athens Post, May 11, 1901). The nephew Elihu was brought up as a member of the family.

I think the Reverend Robeson must have been much like his son Alexander C., a handsome, genial man who like his brother William showed his Scotch ancestry, and was for many years a prominent merchant of Athens. I have his letter of March, 1898 wherein he answered carefully to the best of his ability my questions as to the Robeson ancestry.

The Rev. Robeson was but 57 years of age when he died December 9, 1842. He was buried in what was then or later a small graveyard near the camp ground, where his wife was subsequently laid near him. In 1915 the home site and burial place of the Rev. Robeson and wife were visited by a grandson James M. Robeson and a great-grandson Stanley Reeves. The house was no longer standing, but the hewn door-step and a few foundation stones remained, and there were faint signs of the tanyard. The graves were in fair condition, tombstones standing.

Ancestry of Adaline P. Easley

Vincent Easley and wife Nancy W. Hamilton; Joshua Hamilton and wife Elizabeth Acuff; Ancestry of Joshua Hamilton; Timothy Acuff and wife Anna Leigh.

Peter Easley and wife Elizabeth Vincent; John (?) Vincent and wife Frances Brewer (?).

Stephen Easley and wife Mary Ann David; Peter David and wife Ann.

John Easley and wife Mary Benskin; Jeremiah Benskin and wife Elizabeth.

Robert Esely (Easley) and wife Ann Parker; William Parker and wife Ann Powell; Capt. William Powell.

VINCENT EASLEY, father of Adaline Easley (Robeson), was born October 2, 1790 at the home of his father Peter Easley (subsequently his own home) in Sullivan County, now Tennessee. He and others of his father's sons were soldiers under General Jackson at the Battle of New Orleans. After the close of the war he accompanied his father and others on a tour of the Wabash River country where his father died. He married in 1821. He was a prosperous farmer. His home was a home of refinement and hospitality. The residence, a rambling old time house of logs built by his father and subsequently ceiled and weatherboarded, still stands about four miles south-east of Kingsport on the Kingsport-Greeneville highway.

In his prime Vincent Easley was six feet tall, with dark brown hair, fair complexion and deep blue eyes. He went clean shaven until old age. His education was acquired in the neighborhood schools, but he was a studious man of good mental ability. In politics he was a Whig. He was a member of the Methodist Church, but "charitable toward all churches, a friend of education, in moral principles unswerving and unchanging, in social relations standing with people of highest intelligence and worth, a calm, thoughtful man who thought much and said little" (Rev. William Robeson). He kept himself informed on the issues of the day, and was a subscriber to secular and religious newspapers. Three files of these, including the National Intelligencer published in Washington and being of the period of the Mexican War, were preserved after his death by his daughter Adaline who in old age presented them to the writer.

He died at his home May 16, 1864 and was buried in what became the family cemetery, on an eminence just across the highway from his home; where lie also his wife, his sons Albert, Elbridge and Edward, and his daughter Amanda. Edwin was buried in the Thomas Easley cemetery a few miles away; Adaline near Morristown; the wife of Elbridge and her father Thomas Vincent (1790-1864) at the Hunt family cemetery south of Johnson City; the wife of Edward at Rock Spring Methodist Church, Sullivan County; the husband of Adaline at Blountville; and the husband of Amanda at Evansville, Indiana.

The children:

NANCY WILKERSON HAMILTON (EASLEY) was born February 17, 1799 at the home of her father Joshua Hamilton in Sullivan County, Tennessee. She spent her early years at her father's home, and received a reasonably good education. On September 12, 1821 she was married to Vincent Easley, and lived happily with him until his death, which occurred before her own.

She was rather tall, erect and active, with luxuriant dark brown hair and blue eyes. She was a good scribe and an excellent letter-writer. Like her husband she was intelligent and kept herself well informed; and was never beyond her depth in conversation. A loyal Methodist, she loved her Church and its history, and was known for her deeds of kindness to the poor. She died May 7, 1872 after a week's illness, and was buried beside her husband.

JOSHUA HAMILTON, father of Nancy Hamilton (Easley), was born in North Ireland in 1759. While he was but a boy his mother was left a widow. About 1773 she came to America, bringing with her the six children, of whom Joshua was the eldest. The family came first to Maryland, probably landing at Baltimore; but it may have moved on to Bedford County, Virginia; for there Joshua, then in his eighteenth year, enlisted in the Revolutionary Army. The census of 1850 for Sullivan County, Tennessee, which was his final home, lists him as 90 years of age, with notation, "Revolutioner. Born in Ireland." In 1832 he applied for and ultimately received a pension for his service, under an Act of Congress of that year. Among his pension papers, which are in the archives at Washington, is his affidavit setting out his military service, in substance as follows:

> That he volunteered in Bedford County, Virginia in 1776 to serve a three months tour under Capt. Thomas Doolan "and marched to Williamsburg, same state, where we joined the main army"; and where he remained until he was discharged at the end of his tour; that shortly thereafter "he removed to the frontier settlements of North Carolina, now Tennessee * * *"; and "That in the Spring of 1778 he volunteered for a three months tour * * *, which enrollment was under a captain whose name he has forgotten, but was for to act as a spy company & range the vicinity of Fort Monroe on Clinch river, which duty he performed for about the space of three months and returned home * * *." That he "was again enrolled as a volunteer under Capt. Russell and Col. Charles Robison for another tour of duty against the Cherokee Indians who had been in alliance with the British and were depredating upon the settlement and met the Regiment at the Long Island in Sullivan County (then Washington) and descended the Holston river by water to Chickamauga in the Cherokee country & destroyed the towns in that quarter, killed some and drove back the residue of the Indians, and returned again after being discharged verbally, and arranged in companies for defense in returning"; this in 1779, beginning March 1, and ending the last day of May. That in the ensuing year he volunteered under Lt. Edward Cox of Col. Martin's command for another expedition against the Cherokee Indians, to reinforce Col. John Sevier, and served under Martin and Sevier on the French Broad river, and marched to Chota in the Cherokee country, and "had an engagement at the crossing of the Tennessee river, & again burned all the towns, corn and provisions, and destroyed their property & again returned home and was verbally discharged on their return to the settlements on Lick creek (now Greene County) after being in said service about three months"; and "That in the fall of the year 1780 he again volunteered under Capt. Warring of General Shelby's command for an expedition against the British in the south, commonly called King's Mountain battle in which he was during sd. expedition which battle was in Septr. 1780. That the Army rendezvouzed on Watogo and marched across the Yellow Mountain and from thence met the British under Ferguson on the top of King's Mountain, and after a severe and doubtful contest for some time succeeded in obtaining a signal & complete victory. Ferguson was then killed & the whole army either killed or taken prisoners. Having to the best of his recollection been three months in service and returned home after being verbally discharged by said Shelby after the Regiment had crossed over the mountain and had reached within a day's travel of his residence * * *; having been in the whole service under the five enlistments a period of fifteen months in service as a volunteer in the revolutionary war * * *."

Signed and sworn to August 22, 1832 before N. Netherland, Clerk "of the Court of Pleas & Quartersessions" for Sullivan County, Tennessee, by G. W. Netherland, Deputy Clerk. Indorsed: N. Lucky, Atty. Affidavits of Edward Cox and Jacob Beeler included. Memo.: "Let. to Sam'l. J. Rhea, Oct. 29, 1835. Dup. certifs. Dec. 3, 1835 & sent to Hon. W. B. Carter, M. C., Prest.".

Joshua Hamilton, when he went to Sullivan County, entered a fine farm on the Holston River about two miles from the present Holston Institute and the Johnson City-Bristol-Kingsport air-port. There he constructed on a knoll a dwelling which still stands, but with considerable alteration. A fine old limestone chimney of the original house may still be seen. Down in front among some tall trees is the spring that once served the Hamilton family. About one-hundred-fifty yards up the slope to the rear of the house in what was at first the orchard is the Hamilton burying ground.

Joshua married about the year 1785. Besides three children who died young he and his wife reared thirteen sons and daughters who lived to old age. Some of the sons served under General Jackson in the War of 1812. "Both father and sons were stalwart, fine looking men. The daughters were models of purity and true womanhood" (Mrs. Adaline Robeson). The children were well educated for their time and section. The family was one of refinement and high standing. Father and sons kept e horses and hounds and rode and hunted a great deal. The father was above medium height, with brown hair and blue eyes. He was genial, sober and moral. In his old age he joined the Methodist Church and was an attendant at Bond's Camp Ground not far from his home. He was made a lieutenant of militia on the organization of Sullivan County in 1790.

Joshua Hamilton died in November, 1851 in his 93rd year. He was buried in the orchard of his home, beside the wife who had preceded him. With his great-grandson James M. Robeson I visited the spot in 1945. It was fenced and in good condition; the older stones, though neat, being without inscription.

The children, next below, are listed as given by Mrs. Robeson. The dates of birth of Timothy, Mary and Nancy are known. Five others are as indicated by the census of 1850. The remaining five are estimated. All are arranged accordingly. The list:

ELIZABETH ACUFF (HAMILTON), daughter of Timothy Acuff, was born in Culpeper County, Virginia in 1765. In her youth she was brought as a member of her father's family to what was later Sullivan County, Tennessee. There she was married about 1785 to Joshua Hamilton. She was tall and dignified and graceful in carriage, with brown hair and brown eyes, refined in speech, and an excellent hostess. She was a lifelong Methodist. She died in the fall of 1842 and was buried in the orchard at her home. "The funeral of old Sister Hamilton at Gammon's Schoolhouse" is noted by Rev. Robertson Ganway in his autobiography (Va. Magazine of Hist. and Biog., Vol. XXXVIII).

ANCESTRY OF JOSHUA HAMILTON. We do not know the first name of the father of Joshua Hamilton, who died in North Ireland; but according to Mrs. Robeson the maiden name of his wife was Sampson. This must have been a brave woman who after her husband's death gathered her brood about her and came with them to the New World. Whether she remained in Maryland or went with Joshua to Bedford County, Virginia and thence to Tennessee we do not know. Whether she is buried in the Hamilton cemetery in Sullivan County is not disclosed by the unlettered gravestones. Of the children, Joshua has been discussed; Nancy married Thomas Vincent brother of George; a son, name not known, was killed by Indians; and Rosa seems to have married and settled in Maryland. The children were listed by Mrs. Robeson as follows:

Joshua,
John,
Abraham,
a son,
Nancy,
Rosa.

The Hamilton family has been identified with the history of Scotland from the days of Robert Bruce, and subsequently in some branches with that of Ireland; its present leading representatives being the Dukes of Hamilton and Abercorn. More than fifty crests of various Hamilton families, mostly Scottish, are listed by Fairbairn who also lists those of prominent Sampson (and Samson) families. Both families are well represented from early times in both Great Britain and America.

As a result of religious disturbances in Scotland a great exodus to North Ireland began about 1609; whence that strain called Scotch-Irish. About that time three sons of Baron Claude Hamilton of Paisley settled in Ireland, from whom come well known families. Robert Hamilton beame a denizen of Ireland in 1610 (House of Hamilton, ms., Dublin, 85—, N. Y. Public Library, Gen., ARZ). William Hamilton was granted the privileges of an English subject and was granted lands in Ireland in 1617 (Landed Gentry of Ireland—Burke). It is interesting to note among the eighteenth century descendants of the last the given-name, Sampson. It was no doubt that exodus that brought to Ireland the parents or grandparents of Joshua Hamilton. There was in the eighteenth century a subsequent exodus from North Ireland to America which brought to Maryland the mother of Joshua and her family.

Joshua Hamilton stated to his children that he was descended from the Hamiltons of Scotland. James M. Reeves, Sr., quoted Joshua Styres Hamilton, son of Joshua, to the effect that his father was of royal (noble?) ancestry. We do not know definitely the ancestral line of Joshua Hamilton; but I have little doubt that somewhere in the distant past it leads to the line of the historic family of the oak and the saw and the motto, "Through."

TIMOTHY ACUFF, father of Elizabeth Acuff (Hamilton), was orn in the Colony of Virginia in the year 1735—so said Mrs. Adaline Robeson many years ago. He married about 1760, probably in Culpeper County, Virginia, where he resided until after all his children were born.

In the year 1777 he entered 386 acres of land in what later became Sullivan County, Tennessee, to which he removed with his family about 1782. He sent in the spring two men-servants with stock and tools to plant crops and prepare for the arrival of the family which occurred in the fall, the Acuff carryall leading the way, followed by wagons loaded with household goods; after which all sat down to a feast of wild turkey and such other foods as the neighborhood afforded, prepared in anticipation of their arrival.

There Timothy Acuff built a log house, subsequently weatherboarded and enlarged by a frame addition. This was his final home. It was later occupied by his grandson, Timothy Acuff Hamilton. It stood until a few years ago when it was replaced by a more modern residence. It stood hard by and on the southerly side of what is now the Bristol-Kingsport highway, two miles west of Blountville and just west of the "Highland Mills" residence of Rev. William Robeson.

Timothy and family were loyal Methodists. Their home was always open to the pioneer preachers who traveled through the country. Timothy gave the land, just across the highway from his residence, for Acuff's Chapel, the first Methodist Church building in the Tennessee country, which he erected with the assistance of Micajah Adams another early Methodist. Each of them gave a son to the Methodist ministry. Bishop Asbury preached there and enjoyed the Acuff hospitality. His journal contains an entry under date May 25, 1796: "We came to Acuff's Chapel. I found the family sorrowful * * * on account of the death of Francis Acuff; * * * he died in the work of the Lord in Kentucky" (Early Travels in the Tennessee Country—S. C. Williams).

I knew the church in my childhood—a roomy building of logs without a tower; to the east of the building, the graveyard. The church was removed about forty years ago, but the graveyard remains. There, near the highway, under simple limestone markers the inscriptions on which can no longer be read, lie Timothy Acuff and wife; on their left, as I think I was told many years ago, a son or daughter. Nearby are the graves of Timothy A. Hamilton and wife, and children.

Timothy Acuff and wife were people of refinement. They enjoyed visiting their children. Said Mrs. Nancy Hamilton Easley: "They would come walking together up to the house, stopping to put their arms around the children who ran to meet them; Grandfather dressed in white pleated shirt, knee breeches, silk hose and silver knee and shoe buckles; Grandmother in a dress with a train, parted in front over a dress petticoat, a white embroidered apron, gauntlets above the elbows, and a broad-brimmed hat."

Among the papers left by Mrs. Robeson is a memorandum dated January 16, 1815, in ink, in the delicate handwriting of Timothy Acuff, as follows:

There is also a certificate in old time print except for name, date ept. 13, 1777 and signature, reciting "that Timothy Acoff hath taken and subscribed the oath or affirmation of allegience and fidelity, as directed by an act of General Assembly * * *. (Signed) William Walmer (Seal)."

Also a certificate reciting the survey "by David Shelly, C. S.," of 386 acres, "the farm on which Timothy Acuff settled," by order of "John Carter, E. T. of Washington County, State of North Carolina, Sept. 21, 1777."

And finally a certificate dated March 8, 1785, signed "Robert Mays, D. S., Davidson County, State of North Carolina," reciting a survey ordered for Timothy Acuff, "by virtue of a military warrant," of a tract of 640 acres of land "on the waters of Stone River." This has been made the basis of an assumption that Timothy was a Revolutionary soldier. However, the record of the grant shows that the warrant was assigned to him by another, and no record of such service has been found.

Timothy Acuff died October 5, 1823, sitting in an arm chair at the home of his son-in-law Joshua Hamilton. His last words were: "Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word; for ine eyes have seen thy salvation." He was buried across the highway m his residence, beside the wife who had preceded him.

In his list, above, Timothy apparently did not attempt to follow the regular order of the children, as is indicated by known dates, besides omitting those without offspring. The list follows, order uncertain except as indicated by known dates of birth:

Eleanor,	b.	1761, -1-23-1849	d.	1849.	m.	George Vincent. 1753-1832- SOL. WAR
Christopher,	"	——,	"	——.	"	——————.
Elizabeth,	"	1765,	"	1842.	"	Joshua Hamilton.
Mary,	"	——,	"	——.	"	———— Rogers.
Francis,	"	1769, circ.,	"	1795.		Unmarried.
John,	"	——,	"	——.	"	———— Duncan.
Sarah,	"	——,	"	——.		Unmarried.
Nancy,	"	——,	"	——.	"	———— Ashworth.
Anna,	"	——,	"	——.	"	Rev. Nathaniel Munsey.
Susannah,	"	——,	"	——.	"	Thomas Craft.

Nancy and family seem to have settled in Indiana. According to Mrs. Robeson, Christopher, Mary and Susannah, and their families (with some exceptions) settled in Davidson County, Tennessee. Rev. Francis died Kentucky.

Unlike the Easleys, Leighs and Vincents, Acuffs have not been found in seventeenth century Virginia records. Those of the period of Timothy Acuff are rare, and it is probable that they were of the first or second generation from immigrants to Pennsylvania or further east. John Acuff served in 1763 as a sergeant in the militia of Henry County; and John Acoff appears in 1767 in the list of tithables of Pittsylvania County (Va. Magazine of Hist. and Biog., Vol. IX, p. 416; XXXIII, p. 379). Cain Acuff (wife Esther) appears to have been a planter, first in Spottsylvania County, later in Henry County (1764-1788), and to have bought and sold land in the former county (Va. County Land Records, Spottsylvania Co., 1721-1800—Crozier).

David and Peter Acoff appear as heads of families in the census of 1790 for Montgomery County, Pennsylvania. Gravestones of David Acuff (d. 1809, aet. 90), David Acuff (1785-1861) son of Jacob and Mary Acuff, Margaret Acuff (1790-1844) wife of David Acuff, Mary Acuff (d. 1832, aet. 72), and those of Acuffs of later generations are found at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Whitemarsh, Montgomery County (Gen. Society of Pa. Pubs., Vol. XII, pp. 144, 254).

While in one certificate and two records, above, the name is spelled "Acoff," these are considered merely errors of the scribes. The name Acuff is apparently a variant of "Aculf" of the old English name Dacre or Fitz-Aculf of Dacre, Cumberland, from Aculf a companion of the Norman Conqueror (See The Norman People, Henry D. King & Co., London, 1874).

ANNA LEIGH (ACUFF) was of an excellent Virginia family; the maiden name of her mother having been White. She was born in 1742, was married to Timothy Acuff about 1760, probably in Culpeper County where they made their first home, and subsequently went with him to what was later Sullivan County, Tennessee. She was said to have been small and dark. Said her husband after her death: "She made me a noble wife, modest, amiable and kind." She died October 18, 1820 and was buried in the Acuff Chapel graveyard, where about two years later her husband was laid beside her.

Her husband apparently liked to talk of the days of courtship. According to Mrs. Robeson, the first time he saw his future wife she was in the yard at her father's home breaking green boughs with which to fill the fireplace. Said he: "She was very beautiful, and I knew she was industrious and good from the work in which she was engaged." He described himself when he went courting as wearing a shirt of Irish linen with pleated sleeves and stiff cuffs, dressed buck-skin knee breeches sewn with silk, long stockings, and silver knee and shoe buckles.

As further narrated by Mrs. Robeson, a wealthy aunt, Grantha Brown, took Anna to live with her and be the heiress of her large estate. One evening the niece was permitted to visit a neighbor, accompanied by er maid. On her return she was escorted part of the way by a young man f the neighborhood, and they lingered to talk for a few minutes before parting. This was reported by the maid to the aunt, who was much shocked at the news. She informed the niece that she could either take a whipping or return home. The high spirited girl promptly took the latter course, thus losing a fortune.

The name Leigh (pronounced "Lee") is old and well known in England where there are several families of the name with recognized coats of arms. It is said to branch from the Norman house De la Mare (The Norman People, King and Co., London, 1874). It is also old and well known in Virginia where there were numerous immigrants of the name from 1627 forward. William Leigh patented land on Charles River in 1642; and Francis Leigh was on the Governor's Council in 1678 (Va. Magazine of Hist. and Biog., Vol. XXIV, p. 252; XXXII, p. 62). The name is represented in later Virginia history.

PETER EASLEY, father of Vincent Easley, was born in Halifax County, Virginia, October 15, 1765, and when about eighteen years of age went with his father, Stephen Easley, to what later became Sullivan County, Tennessee He married there in 1785, and constructed there on a part of his father's plantation the house which was his home for the remainder of his life and which subsequently passed to his son Vincent. There his children were born, and there he lived the life of a substantial farmer. He was said to have been a genial man, devoted to his family and home. In appearance he seems to have been a typical Easley, about six feet tall, compactly built, with dark brown hair and blue eyes.

After the close of the War of 1812 there was a flow of migration to the Indiana territory which became a state in 1816. Peter and others, including his son Vincent, formed a party to tour the new country, possibly to explore its advantages as a place of settlement for some of the younger generation. Peter died on this trip of malaria fever, about 1819, and was buried in a small graveyard on the Wabash River near what is now New Harmony, Posey County, southwestern Indiana.

The children:

Frances,	b. 1786,	d. —.	m. Michael Light.
John,	" 1788,	" —.	" Mary Hamilton.
Vincent,	" 1790,	" 1864.	" Nancy Hamilton.
Robert,	" 1793,	" —.	" ————.
Moses,	" 1795,	" —.	" ————.
Winifred,	" 1798,	" —.	———— Powers.

All the children went west except John and Vincent. John occupied the old Stephen Easley home until it burned, and thereafter rebuilt on or near the same site.

ELIZABETH VINCENT (EASLEY) was born in eastern Virginia, March 21, 1766. She came in her youth with her brothers and sister to what was later Sullivan County, Tennessee, where on December 1, 1785, she was married to Peter Easley, and became a devoted wife and mother. In general appearance she was fair, with blue eyes and rosy cheeks. In later life she became somewhat fleshy. After the marriage in 1821 of her son Vincent she went to make her home with her children Robert and Frances, in Hickman County, Tennessee. She died there about 1840.

JOHN (?) VINCENT. We do not know certainly the first name the father of Elizabeth Vincent (Easley). In 1910 Mrs. Adaline Robeson stated her impression that his name was John, and that the maiden name of his wife was Frances Brewer, remarking that a daughter of John Easley was named Frances Brewer.

The parents of Elizabeth apparently did not come to the Tennessee Country, then a part of North Carolina. According to Mrs. Robeson, at least three sons and two daughters came about 1782 to what later became Sullivan County, Tennessee, of whom George whose tombstone shows him to have been born in Brunswick County, Virginia, seems to have been the eldest, the order of the others being uncertain; the list being as follows:

George,	m. Eleanor, daughter of Timothy Acuff.
Thomas,	" Nancy, sister of Joshua Hamilton.
Frances,	" ————. (Settled near Nashville.)
Elizabeth,	" Peter Easley.
A son,	" ————. (Settled in Georgia.)

The Vincents were people of intelligence and worth. Like the Easleys, Hamiltons and Acuffs, they were Methodists. Rev. Thomas Wilkerson who aveled that part of the country described George Vincent and Robert asley (son of Stephen) as two of the most intelligent men of that section.

George and Thomas Vincent, and Stephen, Thomas and Peter Easley were signers of the petition of 1787 by "The Inhabitants of the Western Country" to the General Assembly of North Carolina, for separation from North Carolina. George Vincent, who seems to have been recognized as the head of the Sullivan County family, was a justice of the peace under the territorial government and was otherwise prominent. He commanded a militia company in the expedition of 1788 against the Chickamauga Indians where he was severely wounded (The Lost State of Franklin—Williams, pp. 189, 320, 338).

According to their gravestones, George Vincent was born in 1753 in Sul
Brunswick County, Virginia, and died in 1832; and his wife Eleanor Acu was born in 1761 in Culpeper County, Virginia, and died December 23, 1-23 1849. They were married in Sullivan County. George entered land there near that of Stephen Easley, and on this land he built a two-story log house, subsequently weatherboarded, which was his final home and which still stands though unfit for habitation. Husband and wife were buried on a hill on the plantation, in what is now a small graveyard, some of the older markers of which are without inscription. The children were listed by Mrs. Robeson as follows, order uncertain:

John, B.1785	m. Elizabeth Cox. B.1780	Sarah,	Unmarried.
Thomas,	" Sarah Embree.	Nancy,	m. Benjamin Easley.
Southwell,	Unmarried.	Susan,	" Elijah Embree.
Francis,	" Mildred Gaines.	Rebecca,	" Rev. Hugh Johnson.

The will of John Vincent, executed in 1788 and probated in 1789 in Greensville County, Virginia (taken in part in 1780 from Brunswick County), lists wife Rebecca, brother Joseph, and ten sons and daughters, eight of whom were minors; none of them corresponding to those listed first above. The inventory of Joseph was filed in 1798, but no list of the names of his family has been found.

The Vincent family is an ancient one. N. Vincent, Thomas Vincent and Harvey Fitz-Vincent were in Normandy in 1180-95; Robert Fitz-Vincent in England about 1198; and John, Robert and Thomas Vincent in England about 1272; "hence the Baronets Vincent" (Nobiliaire de Normandie—O'Gilvy, Eng. Sup., Huguenot Society of America Pub., Vol. 4, p. 66).

There were in the American colonies two general branches of early immigrants of the Vincent name, many of them of Huguenot extraction; those of the north who came mainly by way of New York, and those further south who came mainly to Virginia, our Vincents being of the last. The name was well known in early Virginia. William Vincent was living at "ye neck of land" in 1623, and planted 100 acres of land at "Charles Cittie" in 1626 (Emigrants to the American Plantations, 1600-1700—Hotten). Thomas Vincent was granted land in the County of Elizabeth City in 1635 (Va. Magazine of Hist. and Biog., Vol. I, p. 102). Henry Vincent was granted land in Westmoreland County in 1662 and 1664 (Va. County Record Pubs., N. S., Vol. I, Book 3, pp. 92, 93). There were other arrivals of the name thereafter (Cavaliers and Pioneers—Nugent).

STEPHEN EASLEY, father of Peter Easley, was born about the year 1715 in that part of Henrico County, Virginia that became Chesterfield County in 1749. He married in 1751, or at least subsequent to August 18, 1750 (See Mary Ann David), and resided thereafter in Cumberland County, where one or more children were born. He is mentioned as a juror etc., and his brother Robert as inspector, name there spelled "Beazly," in 1736-37 Henrico County records (Va. Colonial Abstracts, Vol. XXII, p. 9 et seq.). Robert having died intestate and without issue before the division of the estate of their father, John Easley, Stephen shortly thereafter sold his interest in the real estate to his brother Warham, as shown by a conveyance of March 2, 1753 of record in Chesterfield County; and subsequently removed to Halifax County, Virginia, where his other children were born, and where the elder ones married.

Stephen was not the first Easley to arrive in Halifax County. Daniel of Cumberland County bought land there in 1761 and 1762, and in 1765 received there as a gift from his second father-in-law William Echols 50 acres with houses, barns, orchards etc. Stephen purchased land there in 1763; as did Pryant in 1764, and Warham, above, in 1773, both of Cumberland County (Conveyances of record). The purchases of Stephen were follows:

From	Daniel Easley,	Feb.	19,	1763,	1000	acres.
"	" "	April	2,	"	150	" .
"	Joshua Powell et al.,	June	21,	1770,	75	" .
"	George Brown,	Nov.	12,	1777,	175	" .

From the descriptions these lands seem to have been in the same general neighborhood on Banister River. Stephen did not hold them permanently. On May 20, 1773 he gave to his daughter Sarah Stubblefield 200 acres; and on the same date, joined by his wife Mary Ann, he conveyed to William Childress 200 acres. He held the remainder until 1780, at which time he seems to have begun preparation for a new migration. Then followed the following conveyances (Deeds of record):

To Robert Chappell,	May	18,	1780,	325	acres.
" John "	March	12,	1781,	200	" .
" George Ridley,	"	15,	"	400	" .

It is interesting to note that in the last conveyance Ridley is described as of Sullivan County, North Carolina; and that the names of contiguous owners and witnesses in these various conveyances include Adams and Childress, old Sullivan County names, besides Thomas Easley and Benjamin and Thomas Dixon. As a result of increased values and war time infla[illegible]n the latter sales showed handsome profits. The considerations for Stephen's four purchases totalled 330 Virginia pounds. Those of the last three sales alone totalled 19,125 pounds. This probably had much to do with the determination of Stephen to seek, so late in life, the opportunities of a newer country.

Unfortunately for our search the courthouse at Blountville, Sullivan County, Tennessee was burned in 1863 with many records. It was, however, in 1782 that Stephen Easley entered 1320 acres of land on Horse creek near Holston River; in Sullivan County just formed but not organized until 1790 (Phases of S. W. Territory History—Williams). About the close of the Revolution he removed thither with his family which included at least the younger children; the other children going then or later.

Like other settlers of this section, Stephen Easley built a log house. This house, which was his final home, stood on the Horse creek bluff overloo[illegible]g his broad acres and visible for a long distance. It was destroyed by [illegible]e after his death and was replaced by another.

Stephen was a man of intelligence and refinement and was a prominent citizen. His home was one of comfort and hospitality. Like that of Timothy Acuff it was a stronghold of early Methodism. Bishop Asbury visited and preached at this home. In an entry in his journal for May 6, 1788 he wrote: "I had many to hear at Easley's on Holstein"; and again for Feb. 8, 1790: "Thence we went * * * groping through the woods to brother Easley's (Early Travels in the Tennessee Country— Williams).

The years of birth and death of Stephen are not definitely known but have been estimated (See Mary Ann David). He died about 1803 and was buried on his plantation, on the slope of a hill about 200 yards from his residence, in what was thereafter a small family graveyard, where later his wife was buried.

The children:

Sarah,	b. Dec.	1, 1752, d.	——.	m.	Robert L. Stubblefield.
Robert,	" Nov.	25, 1754, "	——.	"	Winefred Dixon.

Stephen,	" May	16, 1763, "	——.	"	————.
Peter,	" Oct.	15, 1765, "	circ., 1819.	"	Elizabeth Vincent.

The list of children and dates of births are from the Bible of Stephen Easley, "Printed by Adrian Watkins, His Majesty's Printer," Edinburgh, 1756.

Robert and Winefred were married in Halifax County in 1778 (Tyler's Quarterly, Vol. IV, p. 59—Va. Hist. Index). Robert Loxley Stubblefield (b. 1751) and Sarah were married in 1772 (Bible Records and Marriage Bonds—Acklen, p. 206). They sold their Halifax County property, above, on June 15, 1780. Thomas and Cleo were married in 1782; Peter and Elizabeth in 1785.

Robert Easley, last above, was a man of exceptional intelligence (See John Vincent). He was made an ensign of militia at the organization of Sullivan County in 1790 (Phases of S. W. Territory History—Williams), and was a justice of the peace in 1802. Robert and Peter settled on the paternal lands. Thomas went to Georgia, then to South Carolina, and finally to Hickman County, Tennessee. He is said to have had Revolutionary service. The other children seem to have gone to Granger County, Tennessee.

Daniel Easley, first above, married (1) Ann David (See Peter David), and (2) Elizabeth, daughter of William Echols (See above). The will of Daniel Easley of Halifax County (previously of Cumberland County), Virginia was executed in January, 1786 and was probated in Halifax County shortly thereafter. It disposed of lands, slaves and personalty, and mentioned wife Elizabeth, sons Isaac and Daniel, daughters Mary Ann Parker, Ann Easley and Phoebe Adams, and grandchildren Robert and Elizabeth Easley, children of John, deceased. The lands bordered those of Stephen Easley. Pryant Easley, above, then of Granville County, N. C., sold his Halifax County land in 1769. (See Robert Esely.)

MARY ANN DAVID (EASLEY), daughter of Peter David and wife Ann, was born, according to calculation, in 1716, in that part of Henrico County, Virginia which became Goochland County in 1728, and Cu[illegible]erland County in 1749. She was first married to William Burton, to which marriage was born at least one child, as evidenced by the first entry in the Bible of Stephen Easley, as follows: "Ann Burton daughter of William Burton and Mary Ann David was borned March 15th day in the year of our Lord Christ, 1749"; which language was followed in the subsequent entries referring to Stephen's children. In view of the age of the mother and for other reasons it is probable that there was at least one older child of this marriage (See Peter David), and that Ann, an infant, was at the time a member of Stephen's family and was accordingly mentioned in his Bible record.

William Burton died apparently about the time of the birth of Ann. The widow thereafter married Stephen Easley, presumably in 1751. She was Mary Ann in her father's will of 1729, and Mary Ann Burton in her mother's will of October 18, 1750.

According to definite family tradition (as related by Mrs. Adaline R[illegible]son) Peter Easley, born October 15, 1765, was born in his mother's 50th year. When the infant was laid in her arms her eyes filled with tears. "I will not live to see him grown," said she. She lived to see his grandchildren.

This tradition is consistent with the recitals of the mentioned wills. The birth year of the mother has been calculated accordingly. If Stephen Easley was as old they would have been 35 years of age at marriage, and about 66 when they left Halifax County for the Tennessee country. Under all the facts I have calculated the birth years as 1715 and 1716.

The wife lived to a great age, dying about 1815, and was buried beside her husband. With James M. Robeson, great-great-grandson of this venerable couple, I, their great-great-great-grandson, visited this graveyard in the fall of 1945. All the markers therein were of rough unlettered stone. The graves of Stephen Easley and wife could not be identified. The grave[illegible]d was inclosed by a low broken fence, and was almost concealed by second growth timber.

In the language of E. C. Reeves when he, too, wrote of earlier days: "Remorseless Time!"

PETER DAVID AND WIFE ANN, parents of Mary Ann David (Easley), were French Huguenots. They were married probably in Virginia about 1712.

Virginia received a goodly number of Huguenots who fled from France after the revocation in 1685 of the Edict of Nantes and included some of the best blood of France. In 1699 an expedition of about 400 of these, followed later by about 300 more, left England for Virginia under the leadership of the Marquis de la Muce, and settled for the most part on land that had been granted them on James River, in Henrico County about twenty miles above Richmond. There they established a town called Manakin Town, later Parish of King William. Among the names of these settlers we find the name David (A Brief History of the Huguenots—Chastain; Old Virginia and her Neighbors—Fiske, Vol. II; The Huguenot Year Book No. 1, 1924). Rietstap lists the arms of a number of French families, David. The name David, of France, is probably, like that of England, from the old Norman name, "Davi" (See The Norman People, King & Co., London, 1874).

Peter David and wife lived and died in the Parish of King William, in that part of Henrico County that became Goochland County in 1728 and Cumberland County in 1749. We know them mainly by their wills which show that they were thrifty and prosperous, but indicate that while Ann lived to old age, Peter died considerably younger.

The will of Peter, executed May 28, 1729, and probated in Goochland County August 18, 1730, disposed of personalty, slaves, the home plantation and an additional tract of 400 acres of land, and named four children, none of whom was then married. The will of Ann was executed October 18, 1750, and was probated in Cumberland County in the month following. It listed but three children, Isaac having died in the meantime; and listed the two daughters by their then married names, Mary Ann Burton and Ann Easley. As recorded, it included a bequest to Lewis Banton of two pounds for schooling. It is probable that the last was a child of Mary Ann by her first marriage, the name Burton having been miscopied. Ann, born May 10, 1722, married Daniel Easley; and Peter married Elizabeth ——— (Douglas Register, pp. 380, 381). The birth years of the sons have been estimated. The children:

Peter,	b. 1714 (?),	m. Elizabeth ———.
Mary Ann,	" 1716,	" (1) William Burton; (2) Stephen Easley.
Isaac,	" 1719 (?),
Ann,	" 1722,	" Daniel Easley.

JOHN EASLEY, father of Stephen Easley, lived in that part of Henrico County, Virginia that became Chesterfield County in 1749. He married Mary, daughter of Jeremiah Benskin. He died leaving a will that was probated in Henrico County.

In that will he left to his sons William, Warham, Robert and Stephen a tract of 400 acres of land on Powhick creek, then Henrico County. The record of that will has not been found; but these facts are recited in a deed of March 2, 1753 from Stephen to his brother Warham, both then of Cumberland County, of Stephen's interest in the mentioned real estate then in Chesterfield County (See Stephen Easley).

Of the four sons, William and Robert were both dead prior to the date of the mentioned deed (See deed). Warham, second of the name, married Ann, daughter of John Woodson and wife Mary Miller of Cumberland County (W. and M. College Quarterly, Vol. XI, p. 56; Woodsons and their Connections—Woodson, pp. 65, 66); Stephen married Mary Ann David Burton (widow); and both subsequently removed to Halifax County (See Stephen Easley).

The mentioned will of John Easley should not be confused with that of John Easly who resided on Deep Creek in Goochland County (cut off from Henrico County in 1728), which last will was executed ——— 4, 1746 and was probated in Goochland County in a court of August 19 of that year. In it the testator mentioned wife Joyce Easly, sons Samuel, John, William, Robert and Millinton Easly, and daughter Judith Easly. Comparison of the names of wife and sons with those above shows that this testator was not John Easley, father of Stephen. He was apparently a son of Warham, first of the name (See Robert Esely). This will was written by another and was signed by mark. Thomas Dupray who also signed by mark was a witness to this will.

MARY BENSKIN (EASLEY), wife of John Easley, was the daughter of Jeremiah Benskin, as shown by the following Henrico County record of August 20, 1711:

> "John Easly by his petition Setts forth that he marryed the Daughter of Jeremiah Benskin and therefore prays order for her estate which is in the hands of John Bolling Gentleman, the said Bolling appears and assumes to pay on account of the said Easly to Abraham Womack the Sum of five pounds five Shillings current money and also promises to pay the said Easly thirty Six pounds ten Shillings in goods at fifty per Cent on the first Cost or in Tobacco at one penny per pound, either of which payments is to be at the election of the said Easly, and in full Satisfaction for his wifes estate, to which the said Easly Consents" (Henrico County Orphan's Court Book, 1677-1739).

JEREMIAH BENSKIN AND WIFE ELIZABETH, parents of Mary Benskin (Easley), lived in Henrico County. We know them mainly by the will of Jeremiah which was recorded as having been executed in April, 1670, and was probated in Henrico County June 3, 1703. Circumstances indicate that the date of execution of the will, entered as 1670, was miscopied and should have been 1690. By patent of October, 1704, issued after his death, Jeremiah was granted 324 acres of land on the south side of James River at the mouth of Westham creek, for the transportation of seven persons into the colony.

In the mentioned will he divided his "goods and chattels" between his wife Elizabeth and his daughter Mary, but made no mention of real estate. He left the "government, disposal and tutelage" of his daughter, and control of her inheritance, to his wife, and his wife's mother not named. His wife was appointed executrix of the will.

While there were Huguenots in Virginia prior to the founding of Manakin Town, Jeremiah Benskin and wife were apparently English. Henry Benskin, son of Francis Benskin, Esq., of St. Martin's in the Fields, Middlessex, was in Virginia in 1691 (Waters' Gleanings; Some Emigrants to Virginia—Stanard).

ROBERT ESELY (EASLEY), father of John Easley, was apparently a French Huguenot. He married Ann Parker, who was not French, between October 11, 1679 and October 1, 1684, lived in Henrico County, Virginia, and died there early in 1712. He was too early for the Huguenot expedition organized in England by the Marquis de la Muce, that founded Manakin Town in 1699 (See Peter David). There were, however, earlier Huguenot arrivals in Virginia. In 1630 Baron de Saucé settled a colony on lower James River; and later others came (Va. Magazine of Hist. and Biog., Vol. 11, p. 289). Robert Esely seems to have been one of these; but he may have arrived by way of England.

In October, 1704 he received a patent for 315 acres of land on Reedy creek in Henrico County, "by and for the importation of Seven persons into this Colony." In the patent his surname is spelled, first, "Easly," then "Easely"; and in a notation thereon by the Governor's secretary, "Esly."

In July, 1718 Thomas Jefferson, Robert Eseley and others received a patent for 1500 acres in Henrico County, "at a place known by fine Creek" and "on a branch of the upper Manakin Town Creek"; consideration three pounds and "the Importation of Eighteen persons to dwell within this our sd Colony and Dominion of Virginia." This was apparently pursuant to an earlier entry as Robert was then dead.

The will of Robert Esely, of which we have only the record copy, was executed on December 17, 1711, and was probated in Henrico County on March 3, 1711 (1712). It followed the customary devout form of the period, beginning as follows:

> "In the name of God Amen. I Robert Esely of the parish and County of Henrico being weak of body but of perfect mind and memory praised be God do make and Ordain my last Will and Testament in manner and form following * * *".

To his sons John Easly and Warham Esely and his daughter Margret Dupray wife of Thomas Dupray (names so spelled) he gave 500 acres of land "lying upon fine Creek." To his "three younger Children Elizabeth Esely, William Esely and (his) youngest Son Robert Esely" he gave 400 acres "lying between fine Creek and Manakin upper Creek." To his wife Anne Esely he gave the personal property, and made her his executrix.

The will, which was written by another, is signed, "The mark of Robt Esely (L.S.)." The concluding seal, which appears as a crude roll, was probably added pro forma by the scribe. However, the mark between the two words of the name, which in such cases is usually written "X," here appears as a figure something like a human head, and may have been an imitation of a seal in the original or the copy; for we know that in early times signatures were often by seal only.

Goochland County was taken from Henrico County in 1728. Chesterfield County was taken from Henrico, and Cumberland County from Goochland, both in 1749.

In a conveyance of August, 1729, of which we have only the record copy, "Warham Eassley of ye County of Goochland" conveyed to Thomas Cardwell 400 acres of land in Goochland County "and on the South side of James River upon a branch of Deep Creek"; Warham's name being twice more therein spelled "Eassley," and once "Easeley"; but the conveyance is signed, "Warham Easly." An appended certificate of possession "by the within named Warham Eassley" is signed by Warham Easly and Sarah Easly; and a certificate of acknowledgment by Warham Easly and waiver of dower by his wife Sarah is signed by the clerk of the court.

The will of "Warham Easley of the County of Henrico" was executed in September, 1747, and was probated in Henrico County in November llowing. It was signed, Warham Easly; name so spelled in the probate; and was witnessed by Ann Easley who signed by mark. It did not mention the wife Sarah who apparently was dead. It divided the estate, consisting of slaves and personalty, between two sons, Robert Easley and Roderick Easley. It made them executors, at that point spelling the surname "Easly." John Easly, who resided on Deep Creek, Goochland County, died the previous year and was not mentioned in the will, was apparently another son of Warham (See John Easley).

Robert Easley, son of Warham last above, married Hannah Bates in Goochland County, in December, 1744, his brother Roderick being his surety (Goochland Co. record—W. and M. College Quarterly, Vol. VII, p. 100; will of Susanna Woodson—previously Bates, May 1757, Goochland Co.). He died in Chesterfield County about January, 1750. Hannah Easley, his widow, was appointed administratrix of his estate by Chesterfield court of February of that year, and was appointed guardian of their daughter Susanna in August, 1754 (Order Book 1; part 1, p. 79; p. 528). She applied to court of September, 1767 for assignment of dower, which was granted in October following (Order Book 4, pp. 102, 137). In August, 1760 she received a patent for land in Lunenburg County from which Halifax County was taken in 1752; and in April, 1764 she purchased land in Cumberland County (Documents of record).

Daniel Easley, then of Chesterfield County, purchased land in Cumberland County in September, 1751. Then living in Cumberland County, he sold this land in May, 1761; having bought land in Halifax County about one month before (Deeds of record). Daniel, Pryant, Warham and Stephen Easley, all then of Cumberland County, bought land in the same general neighborhood in Halifax County; Stephen buying first from Daniel (See Stephen Easley). Ann Easley, apparently the wife of Daniel, witnessed the will of Warham Easley, above. Daniel and Stephen married sisters. Roderick did not go to Halifax County, Virginia. My conclusion is that Daniel and Pryant were brothers. Whose sons they were is not clear.

Of the earlier wills and deeds only the will of John Easly of Goochland County has been found in original. With due allowance for errors of scribes and copyists it seems fairly clear that both he and his father Warham used the spelling, "Easly," though his brother Robert and their cousin Stephen used the spelling, "Easley." These variations were apparently more or less phonetic, the pronunciation of all being that of the present name, Easley. Not even the signature of the Robert Esely will, above, can be considered conclusive of the original spelling of the name.

One North Carolina family, by tradition from Germany, probably Huguenot, spells its name "Iseley." Fairbairn lists the crest of the Isely or Esley family. Rietstap notes the arms of the families d'Isly and Eslye (Note the "e" sound of the French "i"). "Esley, Com. du dép. des Vosges, arr. de Mirecourt, cant. de Darney; 413 hab." (Le Grand Encyclopédie, Vol. 16, p. 299). As stated by Judge D. M. Easley, his father John W. Easley (descendant of Daniel Easley above, through his son Isaac) quoted an old Frenchman to the effect that the name Easley was originally d'Esley.

The old Frenchman was probably not far wrong. Name, location, period and associations indicate that Robert Esely (Easley) was a French Huguenot.

ANN PARKER (ESELY—EASLEY), wife of Robert Esely (Easley), was the daughter of William Parker who died in Henrico County, Virginia, about 1679, leaving three children, Ann, Mary and William. The widow seems to have married John Milner, who was appointed guardian of the children. Milner died about 1684.

In Henrico County Orphans Court, on October 11, 1679, there was a division of certain livestock belonging to Ann, Mary and William Parker, orphans of William Parker, deceased (Records 4, Orphans Court, p. 4). In Henrico County Court, on October 1, 1684, there were set aside from the inventory of the estate of John Milner, deceased, certain articles held by said Milner as guardian of the orphans of William Parker, deceased; Mary, William and "one of said Parker's Orph's. now wife to Robert Easley" (Deeds & Wills, p. 286).

WILLIAM PARKER, father of Ann Parker (Esely—Easley), was granted in May, 1636 a patent for 350 acres of land "in the county of Warrisquick, on the south side of the Nanzamond River over against Dumplinge Island," for the transportation of seven persons into the colony (W. and M. College Quarterly, Vol VII, p. 286). His wife is said to have been Ann, daughter of Captain William Powell, an early arrival at Jamestown, from London (The Huguenot—Huguenot Society of Founders of Manakin, Colony of Va., Pub. No. 5, p. 80).

CAPTAIN WILLIAM POWELL, above, was prominent in Jamestown history. He became commander of the fort at Jamestown in 1617. He was a member of the House of Burgesses. He was killed by the Indians in 1622 (Cradle of the Republic—Tyler, 2d. Ed., pp. 105, 112, 232).

In the sketches of the John and Robert Easley families and their antecedents, last above, assistance has been derived from the article by Mrs. John H. Grinter and others (The Huguenot, citation above) which blazed the trail for my own research, and which goes further into collateral lines than do these sketches.

The End.
